And soon it's time
to put away our teddy bears and toys.
Our futures call, and we must answer.

But let the memories linger
just a little longer as we ponder our lives' main purposes.

Let's kick back with a chocolate
milkshake and a handful of memories

And prop our feet up on the Cosmos
as we ponder our futures;

Let's sit and dream and hope and wonder
Like little children on a first excursion.

But all too soon
the time comes for us to move on in our lives

Our years at Douglas have been good to us. We are prepared, and we are confident!

So let's eye the future with a confident grin;

We'll get a little crazy!
We'll make it happen!

We're ready, but is the world?

But the world is such a big place . . .
Maybe we should hang on to those teddy bears and toys a little longer

Oh, what the heck!
Let's grasp the chance and go for it!
We'll just try to be careful out there.

Seniors Accomplish Much At Douglas

After four long years of hard work and shared adventures the senior class of 1985 has many memories of their journey together through David Douglas. We have had our share of academic honors as well as a few failures to temper our egos. We have achieved championships. We have excelled at speaking, dancing, acting, singing, and at almost everything the school has offered. However, our greatest achievement has been that along the way we have fused strong bonds of friendship among our classmates, and in the years to come it will be these friendships which will rekindle the fond memories of the four great David Douglas years of the Class of 1985.

Busch, Hawley Grab Top Scholastic Honors

Maintaining a perfect 4.0 GPA throughout one's four years at Douglas and still finding time for involvement in extra curricular activities would appear to be an impossible task. Yet Allyson Busch and Catherine Hawley did just that — they achieved the impossible! As co-valedictorians of the Class of '85 both scholars excelled in tough pre-college classes, specializing in the natural sciences. Outside the classroom Hawley also provided leadership on the cross country and track teams, Quahla and the French club. Busch was an active member of Quahla and the science club. Both girls were also members of the Scots' mock trial team.

Close on the academic heels of Busch and Hawley was the salutatorians of the senior class, Kristin Griffith and Genita Marek.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Catherine Hawley was a major contributor to the success of the girls cross country squad ... Allyson Busch and her biology teacher, Mr. Frank Boyer, check out a lab specimen ... Hawley plans to continue her academic career at Stanford University, majoring in the natural sciences ... The University of Portland will be the new home of salutatorian Genita Marek where she plans to major in elementary education. Marek was active in the Scot orchestra and was president of Taif ... A pre-med course of study is the goal of Busch, who also has her sights set on Stanford ... Salutatorian Kristin Griffith, who captained the Tams as well as participating in Qualha, Spanish Club, and SADD, hopes to study engineering at Occidental College.

Seniors Reap Honors At Recognition Night

A large turnout of seniors, their families, and friends filled the PAC for the annual Senior Recognition night. During the course of the evening many members of the Class of 1985 were honored for their outstanding performances in the various academic departments of the school. The athletic, music, and drama programs also contributed their recognition to deserving seniors. In addition to these awards various scholarship winners were announced, including the winners of the coveted David Douglas Memorial Scholarships, Greg Pierson and Leann Sanderson.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Kathy Scheidt receives an award from Mrs. Linda Shanahan for her involvement in the Miss Fits program . . . Chosen as the outstanding senior participant in the field of the performing arts, a happy Diana Dahle admires her award . . . Former David Douglas vice principal Mildred Wirtz and PTSA president Carol Draper present the annual PTSA scholarships to Wayne Reynolds, Greg Pierson, and Genita Marek . . . Tony Egger, Jim Hendrie, and others were recognized for their outstanding achievements within the English department . . . Entertainment for the evening was provided by the jazz ensemble shown here featuring the trombone section.

Seniors Frolic At Their Last Party

In what has become a new tradition of the graduating senior class at Douglas, the Class of 1985 celebrated the end of their academic days with a great evening of partying at Paesano Park. Whetting their appetites with games of softball and volleyball upon arriving at the park, the seniors then moved indoors and devoured the mounds of food prepared by the Scot coaching staff. The evening featured dancing, skits, awards, and most of all a lot of warm feelings shared by the seniors, the teachers, the administrators, and parents who were in attendance.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Amber Hall works off pent up energy at the ping pong table . . . As darkness set in, the seniors gravitated to the dance floor where the action remained for the rest of the evening, interrupted only by occasional award announcements and acts of entertainment . . . Denise Hoffman and Angie Hergert load up their plates for some serious eating . . . The merry-go-round proved a real challenge to many senior boys . . . A torrid volleyball contest was among one of several athletic endeavors which served to stimulate the combined appetites of the hungry Scots.

Grads Come to End Of Long Odyssey

The long countdown finally over, the Class of 1985, the families, and their friends gathered in the Portland Civic Auditorium for the graduation ceremony. The tension began to mount as the grads robed up in the basement of the Auditorium and continued to build throughout the various speeches and musical offerings during the ceremony. Then it was time for each individual member of the senior class to step into the spotlight as their name was announced to the audience. Finally, the formalities were over, and the graduates rushed from the Auditorium into the arms of their many well-wishers and admirers. The Class of '85 had come to the successful end of their long journey.

Scots Go Crazy For Homecoming

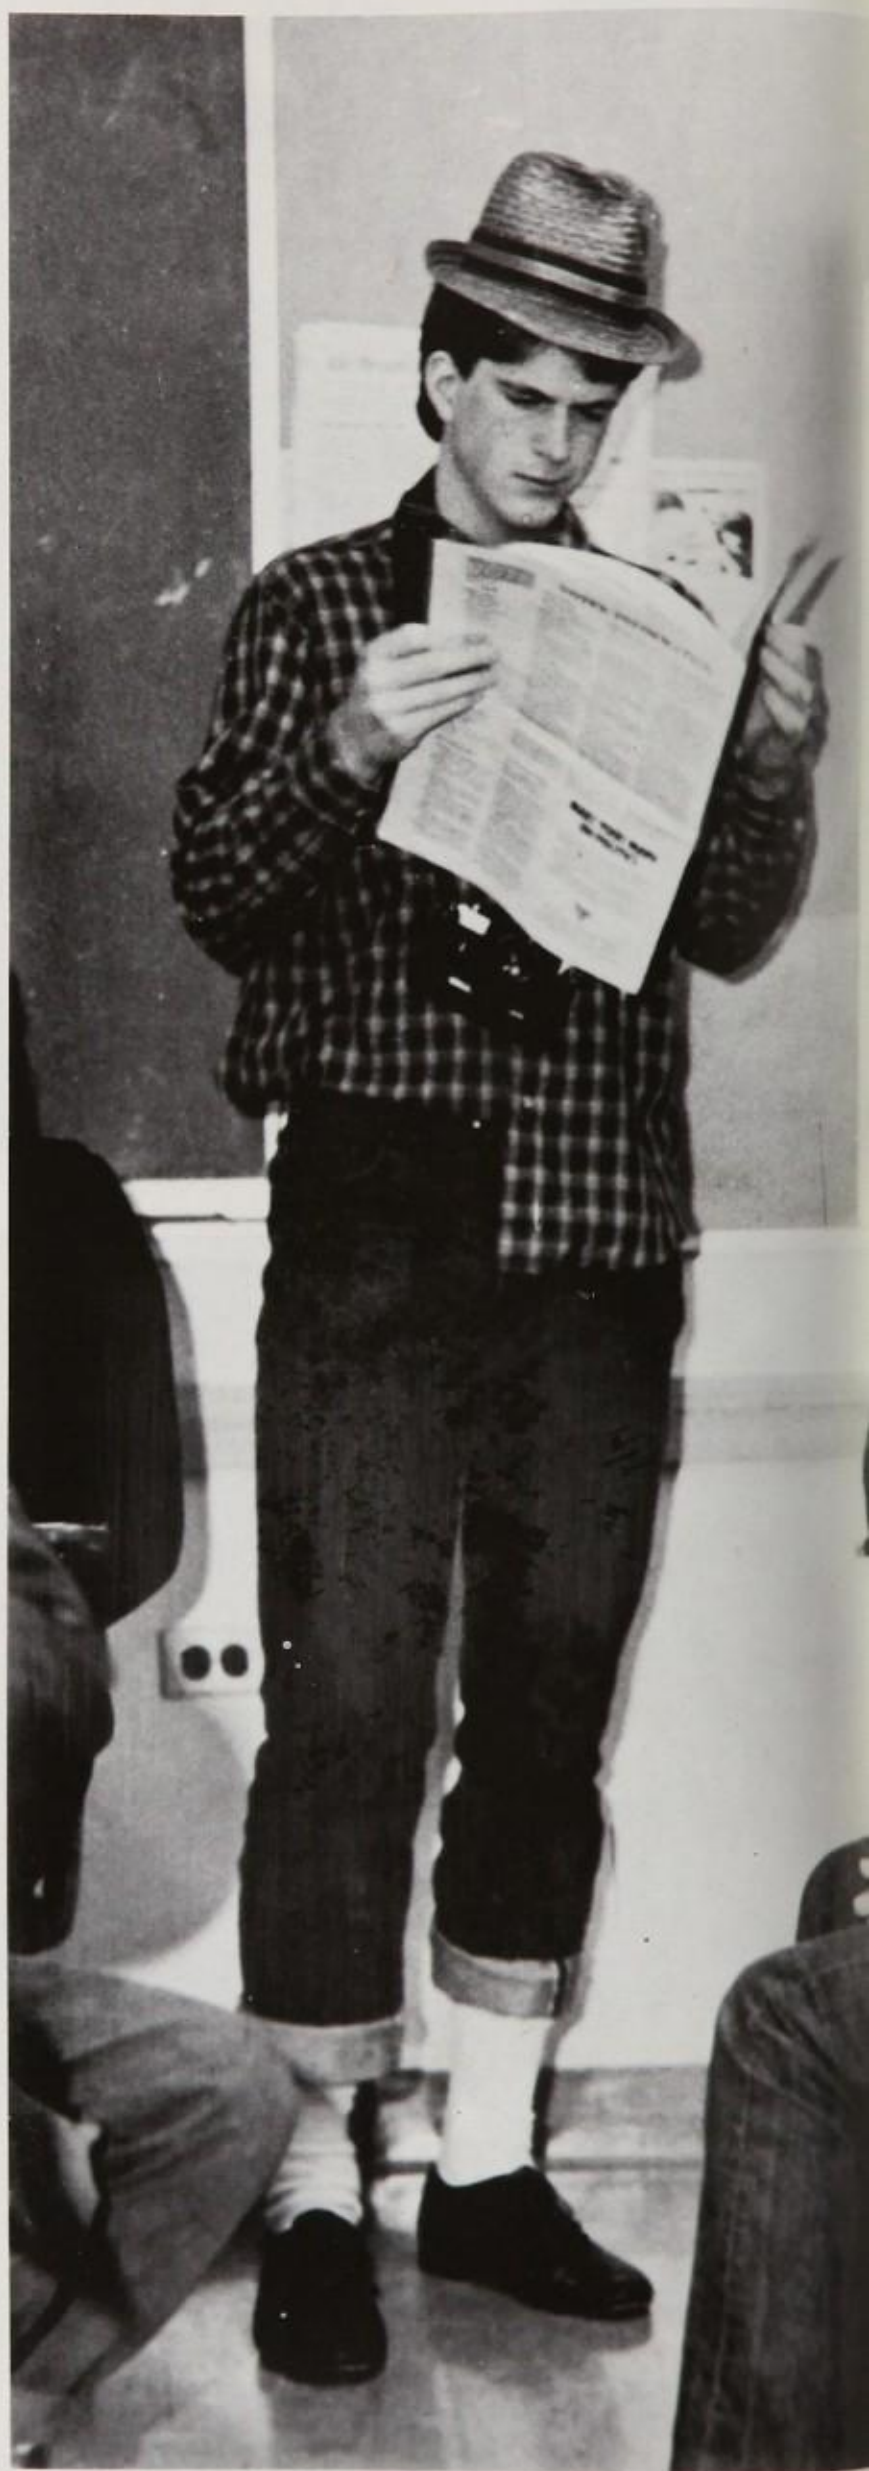

The theme of "Let's Go Crazy!" highlighted a full week of spirited activities during the annual Homecoming week. With Queen Marla Clayton reigning over the festivities, the Scots enjoyed great assemblies as well as such special days of the week as Nerd Day, Gangster Day, Twin/Rocker Day, Dress Up Day, and Spirit Day. The week ended with a PTSA spaghetti dinner, the traditional football game, and the Homecoming dance.

Other members of the Homecoming court were Tanya Heil, Donna Kennison, Haley Schnell, Amanda Cole, Angie Hergert, and Luan Deiganes. The 1984 Homecoming class princesses were junior Linda Palmer, sophomore Tracey Taylor, and freshman Ashley Striematter. Matt Rankin was the Homecoming King.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Mr. Ray Utz electrified the Homecoming assembly with his pumpkin impersonation. . . Even the faculty got into the Homecoming spirit. Mr. Mike Baker and Mr. Randy Brown showed us the new trend in cheerleaders. . . Tom Erickson and the rest of the pep band got us in the mood with their spirited playing. . . The Homecoming court watches the festivities during the assembly. . . Obviously attracted by her Punk Rock Day attire, Steve Gabriel takes the opportunity to chat with Debbie Pollard.

Tams Capture Title At Cal-Pac Competition

The David Douglas Tams traveled to California this year to compete in the California Pacific Dance Competition, and they achieved outstanding success by being chosen the winners of the 1st place trophy in the show production division. In addition, team captain Kristin Griffith and her assistant captains Jenny Dykes, Michelle Ross, and Lisa Steagall took 5th place in the captain's dance competition. While in California the Tams also performed their routines at Disneyland.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The Tams display their precision dancing to an attentive Scot audience . . . Kim Vandervort receives some last minute costume adjustments from her mother, Mrs. Jan Vandervort, prior to a performance . . . The high kicking Tams add their talents to the first pep assembly of the fall season . . . The dance squad introduces their new uniforms and routines to the Scots prior to their State competition . . . Jenny Dykes and her teammates put their best feet forward.

"My Sister Eileen" Opens Drama Year

The Scot drama department opened the 1984-85 drama season with the comedy, "My Sister Eileen", starring Diana Dahle and Angie Baton. The play, by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov, follows the adventures of Ruth and Eileen Sherwood when they move from Ohio to New York City in pursuit of careers. Arriving in the big city, the girls rent an apartment from Mr. Appopolus (Larry Huston), and thus begins a series of events and humorous predicaments as the girls attempt to adjust to their new lives. In addition to Dahle, Baton, and Huston other feature roles were played by Joelle Anthony, Kurt Lambert, Jim Anderson, Jason LaFord, Tony Mills, Juan Parga, Steve Towery, Debbie Cloud, Spencer Young, Michelle Kackman, and Patrick Schroeder.

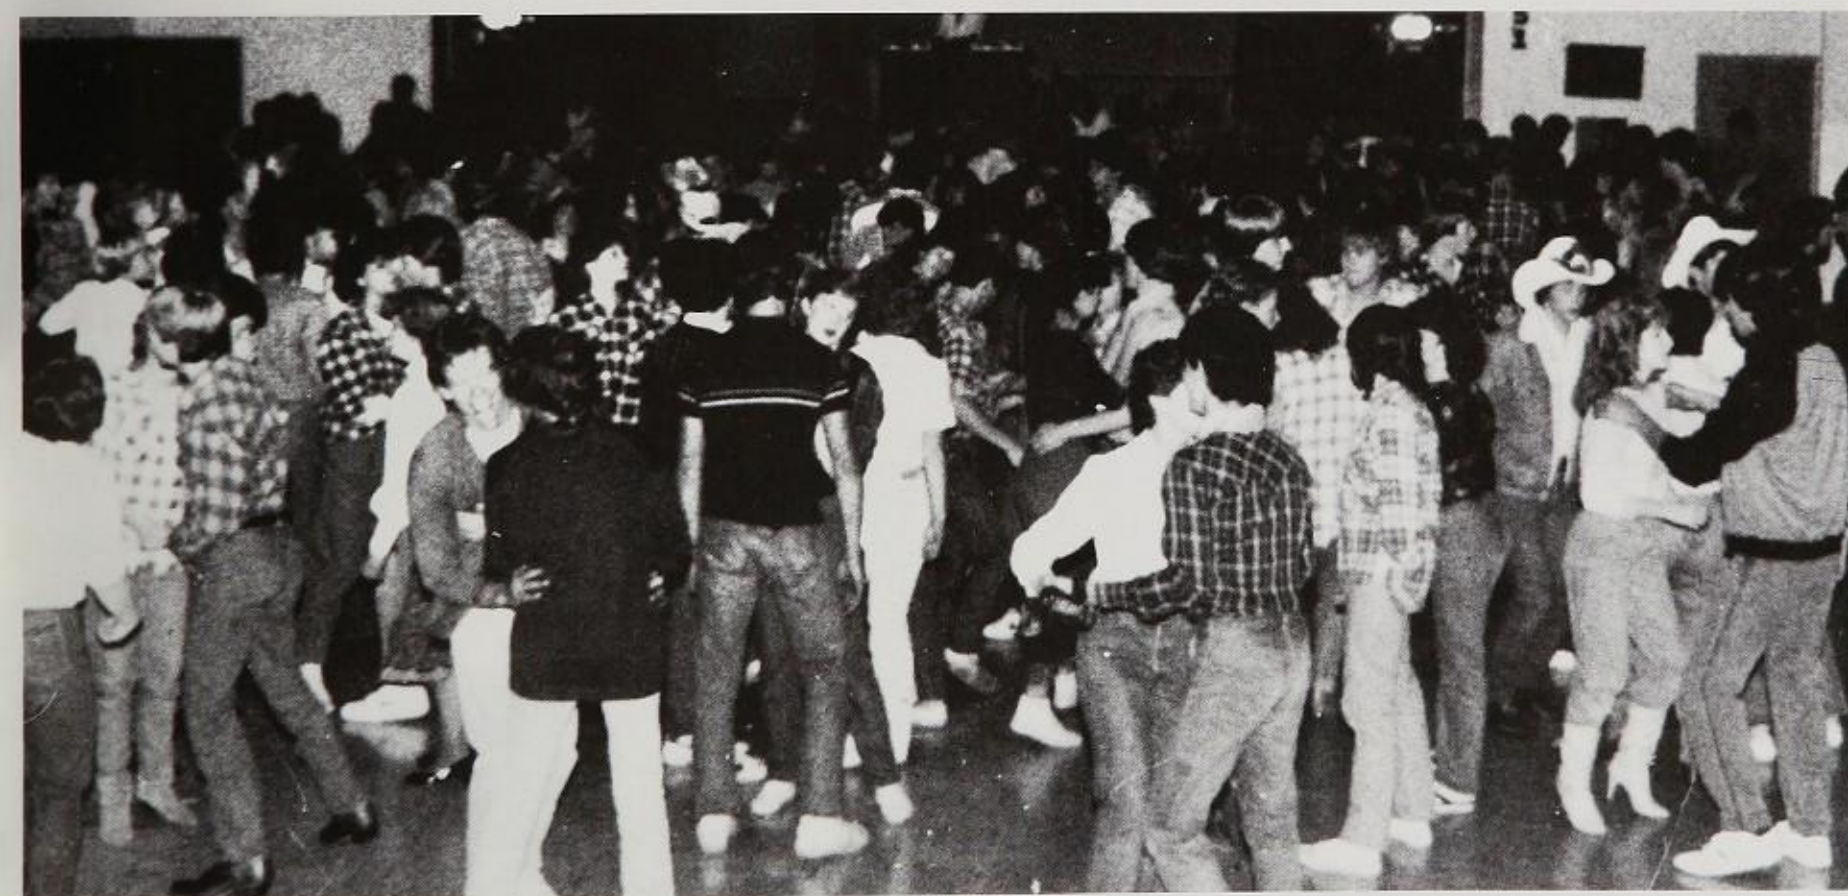

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Ruth (Angie Baton) and Eileen (Diana Dahle) discuss whether to remain in New York or return to Ohio . . . Part of the success of any play is in the costumes and the make-up artistry. Joelle Anthony and the rest of the cast became experts at applying their make-up . . . Mrs. Reamona Reynolds spent long hours rehearsing the cast, insuring a quality performance . . . Mr. Appopolus (Larry Hudson) mixes in a little pleasure while trying to convince Eileen to lease his apartment . . . The Consul (Jason Stanley) offers Ruth an apology for the behavior of his naval officers . . . Appopolus cons the sisters into signing a new lease.

Freshmen Sponsor A Great "Sadies"

The annual "Sadie Hawkins" dance marked the first major class project of the new freshman class, and the work of the Class of '88 produced one of the best "Sadies" ever! A large, enthusiastic crowd, dressed in various renditions and variations of the Dogpatch motif, danced and partied the entire evening. Many couples found their way in the course of the evening to the hitching post where they found a "Sadies" institution, the "Reverend" Randy Brown ready to tie the knot. Topping off the dance, Bruno Studios took pictures of the couples. It was a great dance, and the freshman class can be proud of their efforts.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Sandy Wilson and Curt Heffler pose for a Dogpatch memory photograph by Bruno Studio. . . The dance drew a large, active crowd. . . The Hitching Post was a popular spot, as usual. Nikki Wear and Derek Buchanan pay close attention to the "Rev." Randy Brown. . . Lee Despaign and Devena Mellis share a quiet moment. . . A humorous comment from John Morrell draws a laugh from Tina Grover. . . John Gawlista and Teresa Barnes enjoy a slow dance.

Scots Celebrate The Holidays Spirit

The band, choir, rally, and Key club all combined their talents and efforts to enhance holiday spirits at Douglas. Thanksgiving was celebrated with a canned food drive sponsored by the Key club, whose members collected more cans of food than ever before. The Christmas assembly displayed the talents of many members from the band and choir. The annual Christmas play put on by the band featured Toby Johnson as Santa Claus and others in a rendition of Santa's workshop on Christmas Eve.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The band members turn their talents to drama as they present their version of the Christmas toy shop...A rousing offering of "Turkey In The Straw" by the rally squad was well received by the audience at the Thanksgiving assembly...Mr. and Mrs. Thanksgiving are escorted around the gym by members of the Key club...The girls quartet consisting of Ginell LaMont, Kim Booth, Carrie Sanders, and Lisa McCoy set the mood for Christmas with song...Santa Claus checks his bag to see if there are any presents left for deserving Scots.

Thespians Present 'Ten Little Indians'

The small box theater was the setting for the drama department's winter production, Ten Little Indians, a mystery by the famed author, Agatha Christie. The play revolves around a series of strange and often lethal happenings which occur to a group of ten people who find themselves the holiday guests on an island off the English coast. One by one these people die, and each death heightens the mystery surrounding the remaining members of the group. The talented cast included Wayne Reynolds, Jill Hartwig, Diana Dahle, Joelle Anthony, Patrick Schroeder, Steve Towery, Mike Kackman, Debbie Cloud, Jon Ares, Jim Anderson, and Duane Larson. The student director of the play was Angie Baton.

Scot Spirit Guided By Varsity Rallies

The varsity rallies through much dedication and hard work, performed their various duties with a high level of skill and success. Whether leading the cheers at pep assemblies and games or decorating the lockers of various sports team members, the rallies kept school spirit at a high level. In addition to their performances, the rallies held a slave auction and several car washes, the proceeds going to the purchase of new uniforms and also participation in a summer rally camp at Sandy for all Mt. Hood League schools.

One Act Dramas Display Scot Talents

The annual One Act Plays, presented by the drama department, entertained an appreciative audience. Organized and performed exclusively by students, the dramas included "The Ugly Duckling," by the freshmen; "Suppressed Desires," by the sophomores; "Rocking Chair," by the juniors; and "The Great American Cheese Sandwich," by the seniors. The all school play was "The Marital Cure." Many awards were given for various categories, such as best actor and best actress, won by Jim Anderson and Stephanie Erickson respectively. The seniors received the award for the best production, and the freshmen captured the best sets title.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Krista Mansfield confronts her mother, the queen, as the freshman drama unfolds... In another scene from "The Ugly Duckling" Kurt Lambert as the king consoles Angela Irby... The junior class presentation was aided by the thespian talents of Edwin Lau and Ric Ramirez... Under the critical eye of Sharon Marquez, Angie Baton applies make up to Stephanie Erickson... The seniors present their winning effort. They also presented "The Great American Cheese Sandwich" in Mt. Hood league competition, receiving an honorable mention for their efforts.

Bands Perform For A Variety of Audiences

Many demands were placed on the Scot bands this year, and as always the musicians met these demands with outstanding performances both individually as soloists and also collectively in their various groups. The concert, marching, and pep bands were busy lending their talents to the football and basketball games and pep assemblies as well as the usual yearly schedule of concerts. The jazz ensemble, performing all styles of stage band music, also was very active throughout the school year in both concerts and in competitions.

A highlight of the band's year was the selection of Steve Hull, Anne Kalmari, and Greg Pierson to the All-Northwest band, probably the highest musical honor a high school musician can achieve.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The Herald Trumpeteers are in much demand throughout the Portland area. Here they announce the beginning of a concert by the wind ensemble . . . The PAC stage provides the perfect back drop for the Douglas wind ensemble as it performs a stirring march . . . The trombone section takes center stage as they offer "Lassus Trombone" . . . The very talented members of the jazz ensemble entertain the audience with a medley of swing numbers from the 1940's era . . . Toby Johnson and David Johnson present the student body with the trophy the jazz ensemble received for capturing first place in the Mt. Hood League competition.

Music Lovers Love Scot Orchestra, Choir

Whether performing their annual concerts, competing in Mt. Hood League vocal competitions, or caroling during the Christmas season, the David Douglas concert choir and vocal jazz ensemble continued to entertain their audiences with a high degree of musical skill. Capping their very successful year, the choir travelled to San Francisco in June where they combined performances with sight seeing.

The Scot orchestra also had a banner year which was highlighted by third place finishes for both the full orchestra and the string ensemble in the Northwest Orchestra Festival competition. In addition, the orchestra performed at the Salem Invitational Festival and participated in an exchange with the Pendleton High School orchestra.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: A major factor in the success of the vocal music groups was the accompaniment of Leann Sanderson . . . The orchestra performs a concert in the PAC . . . Violinist Song Kim concentrates on the music as he and the rest of the string section play for their audience . . . The concert choir under the direction of Mr. Curtis Holloway lift their voices in song . . . The boys ensemble entertains the student body at the Christmas assembly.

Banquet Attracts Fathers, Daughters

Sponsored by the David Douglas Dads Club, the annual Father-Daughter banquet attracted a large, enthusiastic turnout. After a fine dinner prepared by the food services students, the girls and their fathers were treated to an evening full of entertainment which included Ric Ramirez and his band, selections by the cast of "Hello Dolly," and piano offerings by Leann Sanderson. The festivities came to an end with dancing to the music of the Scot stage band.

Spanish Students Spread Cultural Good Will

The color and excitement of Spanish songs and dances are brought to life by the students in Mr. Joe Little's Spanish classes through their involvement in their performing dance company, Xochitl, and singing group, La Abetuna Rosal. Since their conception in 1977 both groups have performed at numerous public and private functions throughout the area, ranging from other schools including Willamette University, to retirement centers and fraternal organizations. They have also competed in and won state competitions.

In the summer of 1984 the students represented Portland as cultural ambassadors to its sister city, Guadalajara, Mexico. During their six weeks' visit, the members studied dance at the Institute of Fine Arts for the State of Jalisco, Mexico.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The Xochitl dance company presents a spirited Mexican dance...The entire group lifts their collective voices in song...Mr. Joe Little and Venay Edwards dance their way into the spotlight during one of the group's many public performances...The mood of the evening is set as Ken Jones recites a romantic Spanish poem.

NHS Blood Drive Draws Record Number

In what has become an annual event on the David Douglas calendar, the National Honor Society once again sponsored a highly successful blood drive in which students, faculty, administrators, and neighborhood people joined together to donate over 100 pints of blood to the Red Cross. Organized by the NHS, the society members worked throughout the day typing record cards, dispensing juices and food, carrying supplies, and doing anything else needed by the Red Cross personnel to insure that the program ran smoothly.

May Fete Events Announce Spring

The annual salute to Spring, May Fete, brought forth much enthusiasm and joy to David Douglas. The long buildup to the announcement assembly culminated with the selection of Kristin Griffith as May Fete Queen. Other winners included Lisa Johnson, Crown Princess; Mychelle Vilhauer, Senior Princess; Laura Mullen, Junior Class Princess; Michelle Heyden, Sophomore Class Princess; and Lauri Dukart, Freshman Class Princess. After an exciting week featuring various dress up days, May Fete came to a successful close with the Coronation Assembly during which the Queen, her court, and the large audience were treated to a variety of entertainment.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: The 1985 May Fete court settles back to enjoy the Coronation assembly . . . The dance company offer their talents to the Queen and her court . . . Master of ceremonies Craig Kelly announces the next attraction at the assembly . . . Queen Kristin is congratulated by Marla Clayton and Michelle Mickle after the announcement assembly . . . Mr. and Mrs. Griffith are recognized by their royal daughter as her reign begins.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Queen Kristin is crowned by her predecessor, Lisa Brost, as Greg Pierson, Mark Parrish, and the rest of the court look on approvingly . . . Escorted by Tony Egger, Jill Hartwig presents herself to the student body . . . Queen Kristin poses for all the cameras at the close of the Coronation assembly . . . The senior members of the Tams entertain the May Fete crowd . . . Additional entertainment was provided by the cast of "Hello Dolly."

“Hello Dolly” Thrills Scot Theater Goers

The all-time favorite Broadway musical, Hello Dolly, starring Diana Dahle in the lead role, captivated large, enthusiastic audiences during its Spring run. Featuring gorgeous costumes created by the Scot thespians and lavish stage sets designed and constructed by the stage craft classes, the cast reinacted the adventures of Dolly Levi as she performed her matchmaking miracles for herself as well as others. In addition to Dahle, other main players in the cast included Angie Baton, Jill Hartwig, Larry Hutson, Mike Kackman, Mike Griffith, Tara Hedlund, Pat Schroeder, and Kim Randall. Music accompaniment was provided by members of the orchestra and band under the direction of Mr. Larry Morrell.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The waiters at Harmonia Gardens welcome Dolly (Diana Dahle) to their restaurant . . . Barnaby Tucker (Mike Kackman) and Minnie Faye (Jilly Hartwig) perform to the song, "Dancing" . . . Scot Couples Enjoy Romantic Prom Night

One of the finest Junior-Senior proms in recent memory attracted a large number of Scot couples to the Masconic Temple ballroom. The Junior class, its officers, and the faculty advisors worked long and hard to capture the "Moonlight And Roses" theme in their decorations and preparations. Most couples enjoyed meals at various Portland area restaurants prior to the dance. Upon their arrival at the Prom each couple was introduced as they descended the staircase to the dance floor where they joined the other couples as they danced the night away.

Scots Endure Long Rebuilding Season

Coming off of two successive winning seasons in the tough Mt. Hood League, the Scots faced a rebuilding year this season. With seniors Mark Parrish, John Hoffard, Steve Eckerson, and Howie Stratton leading the way, the team achieved a final record of three wins and six defeats, placing sixth in the league. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Parrish and Hoffard who won 1st and 2nd team All League honors, respectively. Much valuable experience was gained by the large group of talented underclassmen on the squad, and this experience should boost the Scots' fortunes next year. Among the returning Scots will be Jeff Lesowski, Brian Bishop, Jason Stanchfield, and Bill Blevins. These players along with Stratton and Eckerson all achieved honorable mention All League honors this year.

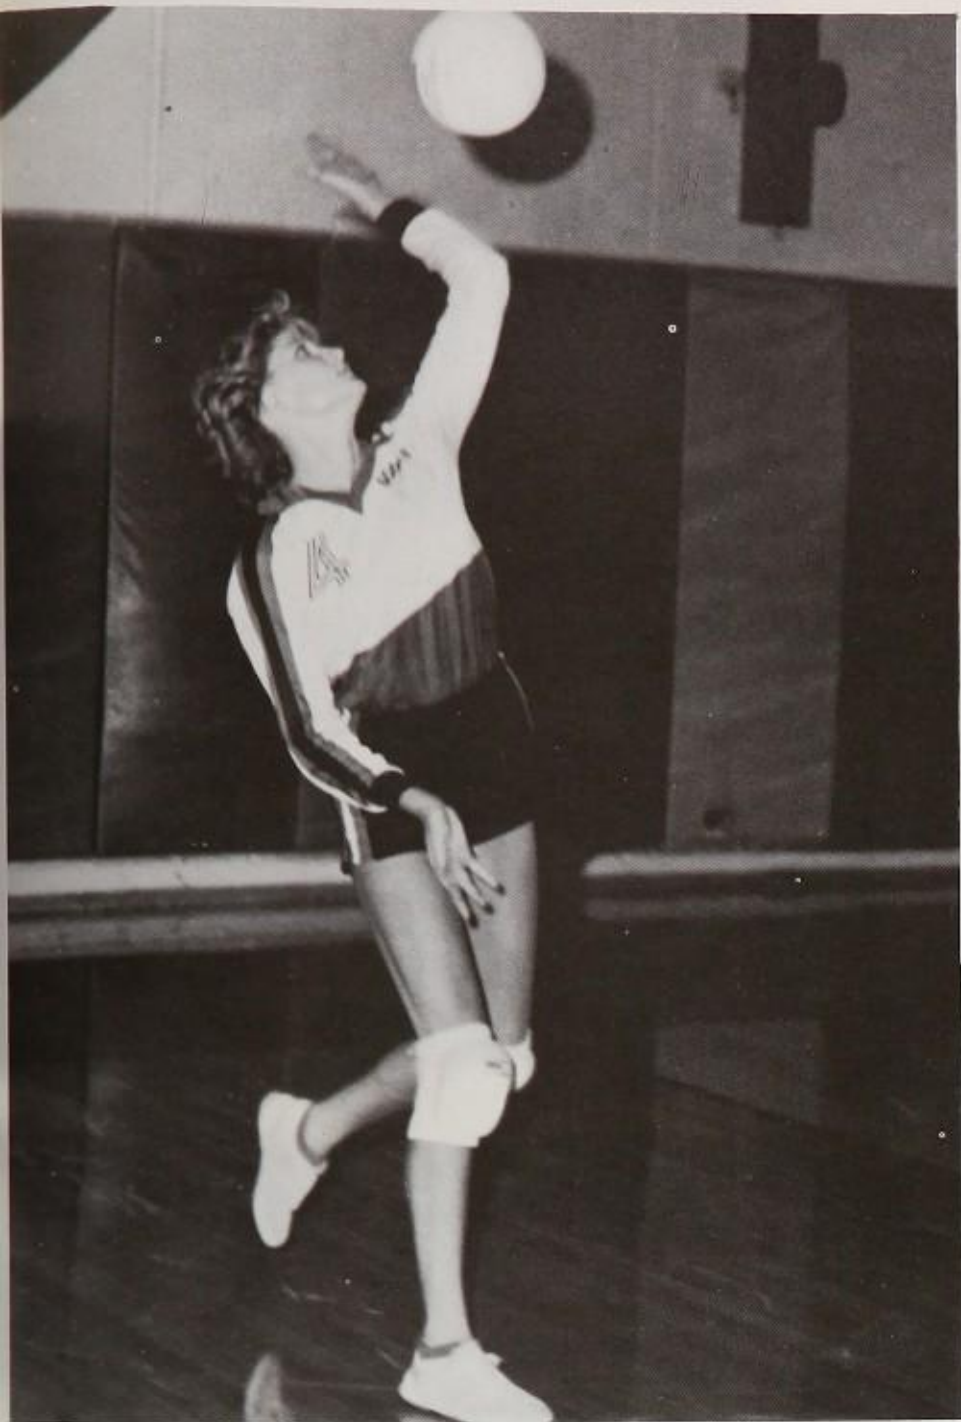

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: The varsity huddle listens to Todd Hamilton call the signals for the next play during a practice scrimmage...The Scots' offensive line charges off the line, getting the jump on the defense...Gerald Noble, coming all the way from his corner back position, sacks the Barlow quarterback...One of the bright spots of the season was the work of John Hoffard, shown here advancing the ball against Barlow...Scott Spencer receives an adjustment of his helmet from manager Brian Trosino prior to returning to the action.

New Talent Brightens Volleyball Future

Not expected to do very well due to their lack of experience, the Scot volleyball team came on strong during the season. With only senior Nanette Bowlin returning from last year, the squad had to rely on unproven underclassmen, but these underclassmen displayed surprising talent and great spirit as the Scots posted a very respectable 7-9 league record. Among those who gained extensive playing time were Lori Bittleston, Kathy Gray, Mary Ann Baird, Kim Volk, Andrea Orazio, Teresa Sakaguchi, and Vicki Casey. These girls will form the nucleus of next year's squad which should make a strong run at the league title.

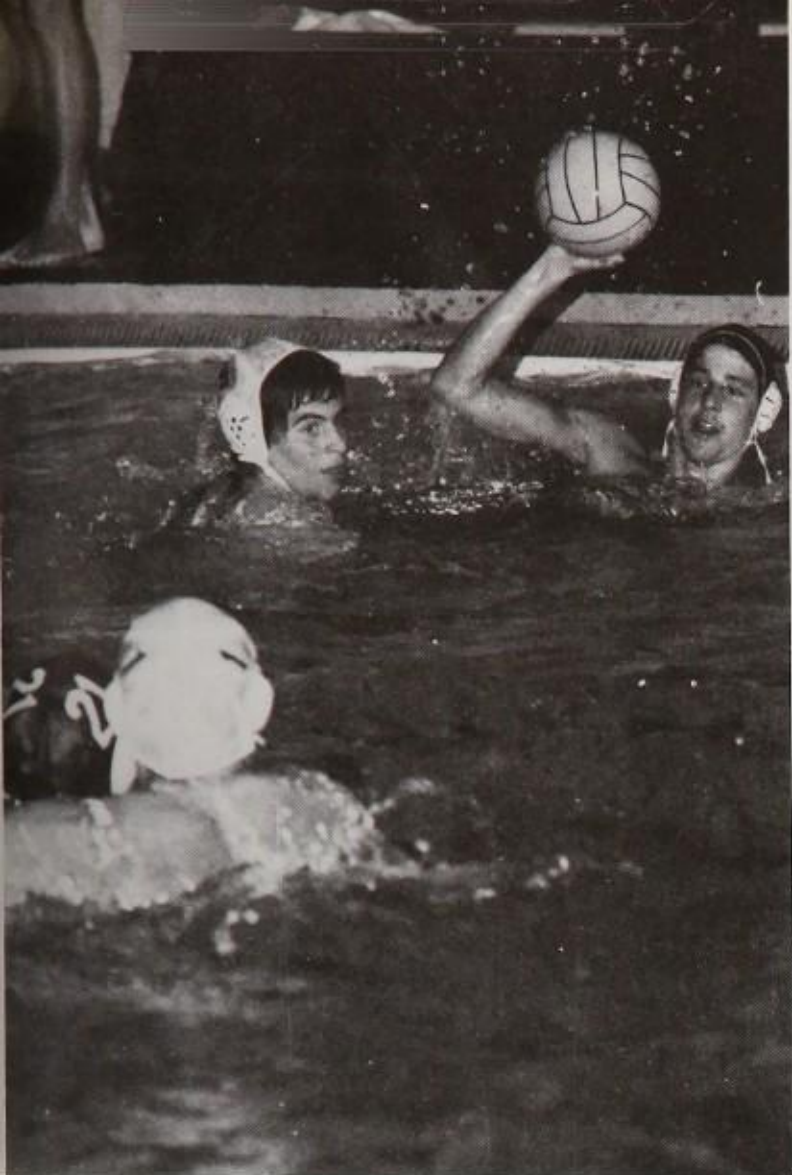

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: The Scot bench intently watches the action on the court...Andrea Orazio skys for a spike attempt...Teammates show their enthusiasm and spirit as the squad is introduced prior to game time...One of several outstanding underclassmen on the team, Michelle Duncan received much playing time during the season...Mary Ann Baird tenses as she prepares to set up one of her teammates. Orazio backs her up.

Polo Squad Repeats As State Champions

For the third consecutive year the Scots boys water polo team captured the State championship. Led by seniors Rick Vail and Mark and Matt Rankin, the talented Scots totally dominated their competition throughout the season, ending with a near perfect record of 25-1. As a fitting climax to their outstanding careers at Douglas, Vail and the Rankin twins received outstanding individual honors. Vail, in addition to being named to the first team All State team, was chosen as the Most Valuable Player in the Mt. Hood League. Matt Rankin also was placed on the first team All State team, and his brother, Mark, won second team All State honors.

Girls Capture League Waterpolo Crown

The girls waterpolo team turned in another outstanding effort this year, capturing the league title and placing second at the State championships. Paced by the superb effort of Alyson Strohl, who was named Most Valuable Player in the Mt. Hood League as well as Co-MVP at State, the Scots posted a season's record of 16-2-1. Also receiving individual honors at State were Kim Raeburn and Tammy Phillips who were named to the 1st and 2nd All State teams, respectively. The team should be strong next year with the return of both Raeburn and Phillips plus a large number of other underclassmen who gained varsity experience this year.

Campbell, Ross Lead Kickers To Victories

Led by the efforts of Jim Ross and Beau Campbell who won 2nd team and honorable mention All League honors respectively, the boys soccer team posted a season's record of 5-7. In league competition the Scots captured 6th place in the standings. In addition to Ross and Campbell other seniors on the squad were Kevin Gratiot and Ke Ounaphom. A strong nucleus of underclassmen who received playing time will be returning next year which should make Douglas a strong contender for the Mt. Hood League crown.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Ke Ounaphom and Kevin Gratiot listen to Coach Barry Ball as he instructs the team during a practice session... Ounaphom appears to be on a collision course with two opponents as they all converge on the soccer ball during a game... A soccer match is made up of many personal matches, such as the struggle between Craig Gratiot and a Gresham player... Sang Thanh Huynh gets set to kick the ball to a teammate... Beau Campbell puts his head into the ball during the Gresham game.

Injuries Hurt Girls Soccer Team Chances

The promise of a successful season soon turned sour for the girls soccer team as a rash of injuries crippled the squad early in the season. The season started on a positive note with a victory, but the remainder of the year proved very frustrating as the Scots ended the season with a 1-12-1 record. In spite of the poor record a positive aspect to the year was that many talented underclass players received extensive game time and will return next year with this valuable experience.

Individually, Kelli Harrell and Renee Mousseau had fine seasons. Both were named to the honorable mention All League team.

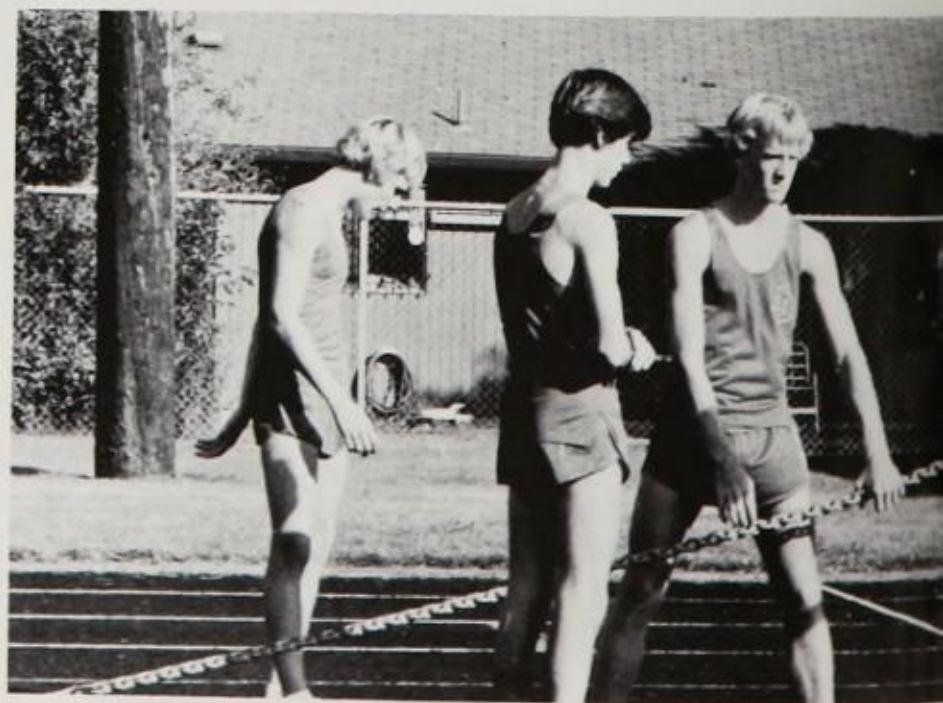

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Rhonda Richey(3) and Nikki Wear find themselves in the center of the action during the Franklin game . . . Getting the jump on her opponents, Cheryl McAlavy(15) heads down the field followed by teammates Christie McQueen(14) and Kathy Medley . . . Scot Runners Post A Winning Season

The boys cross country team, featuring the running of an outstanding group of underclassmen, produced one of the best records in recent years. They finished the season with a 5-3 mark and tied for sixth place at the District meet. Ric Ramirez led the runners with a fine 12th place finish at District. Others who contributed strong performances for the team included Trevor Dick and Tyler Phillips. All three of these runners along with several others who gained much varsity experience will return next year, making the Scots a strong contender for the District crown.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: The boys cross country team receives last minute race strategy from Coach Randy Brown. . . Rick Ramirez shows the fatigue of the long distance runner as he nears the finish line. . . Bunched together after the initial lap around the track, the runners head out of the stadium on to the cross country course. . . Three Scots, Tyler Phillips, Clay Huml, and John Morrison pace each other as the race grinds on.

Mickel Sparks Scot Girls CC Squad

Led by the running of Michelle Mickel, who placed 4th at the District meet, the Scot girls cross country team finished the season with a record of 2-5 and placed 6th in the Mt. Hood League. Mickel also was named to the first team All League Squad. Other runners who consistently placed high for the Scots included Cathrine Hawley, Ashley Streitmatter, Alisa Gierloff, Cristi Wilmoth, and Laura Mullen. All except Mickel and Hawley are underclassmen, so the Scots will field an experienced team next year.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Jennifer Zell paces Christy Wilmoth as they head out of the stadium on to the course during a race . . . The loneliness of the long distance runner is experienced by Cathrine Hawley as she pulls away from her competition . . . Zell and Lisa McInnis embrace, offering each other physical as well as moral support at the end of a grueling race . . . The Scots vie for positions with the Gresham team as the race begins.

Gymnasts Gain 5th Place At State

With one of the largest turnouts for the girls gymnastics team in several years, the Scots were able to field a very competitive squad both in regard to individual events as well as team competition. The Scots posted a very fine 9-5 season's record, finishing second in the League and capturing the 5th spot at the State meet. The highest individual performance for Douglas at State was turned in by Deanna Peters who was 9th in vaulting competition. Other outstanding gymnasts included Ann Criger and Amy Strader. Strader and Peters will return next year to lead the Scots.

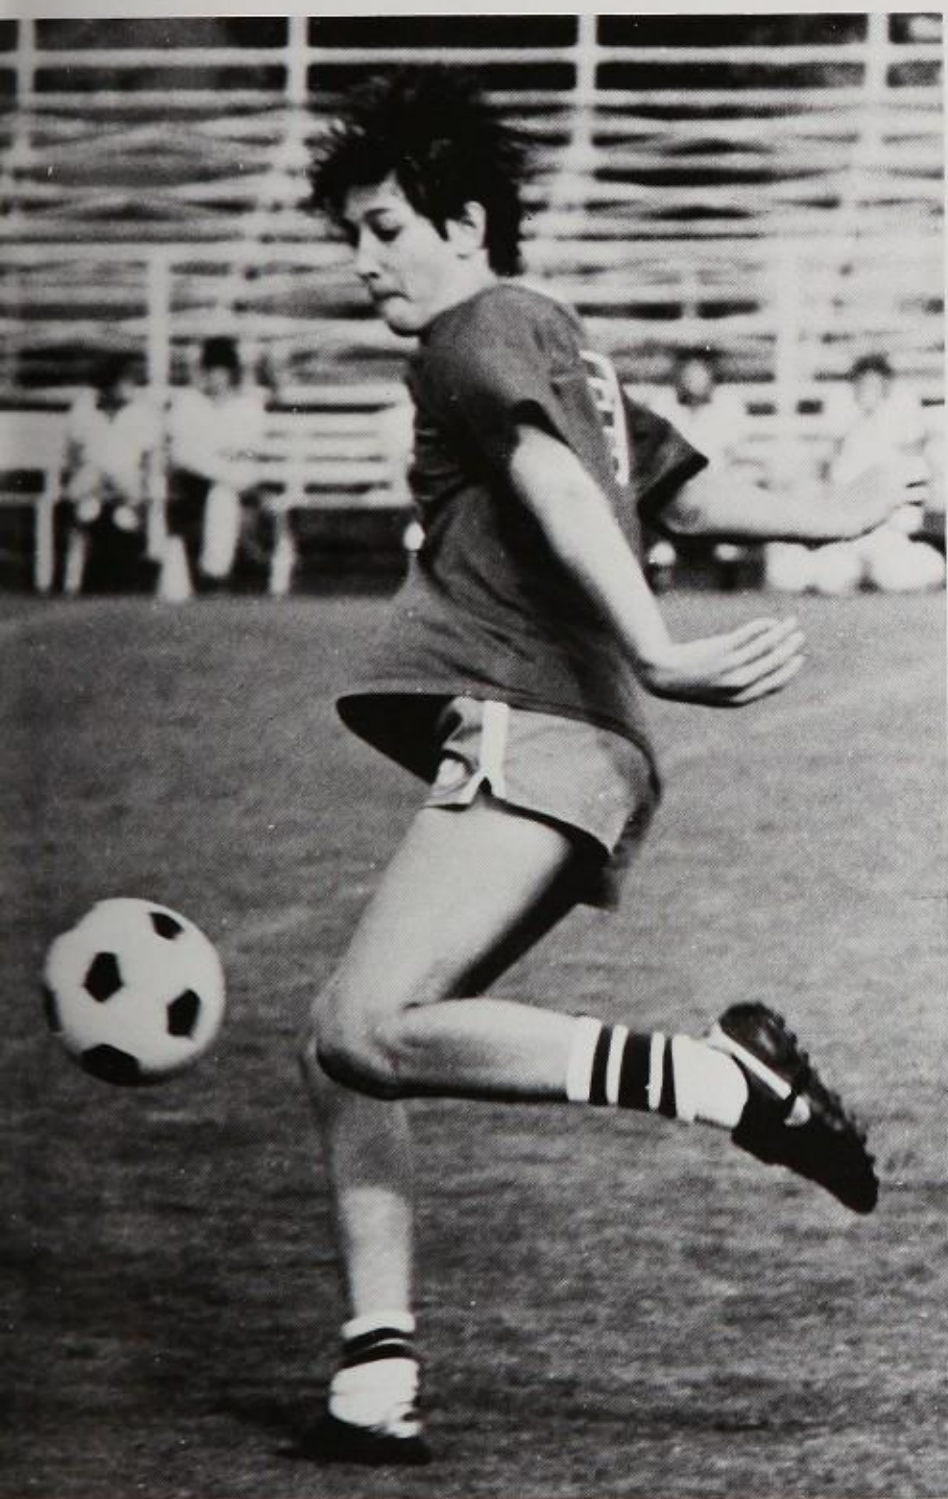

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Jeri Gee displays near perfect form during the balance beam competition. Gee was just one of several underclassmen who added depth to the gymnastics team. . . The squad holds a pre-meet meeting with Coach Linda Shanahan offering last minute advice. . . After a vault Strader and Shanahan critique the effort.

JV, Frosh Teams Post Fine Seasons

The fall sports season turned out to be very successful for most underclass teams. Both team records and individual performances indicate that in the next few years the Scots should be strong at the varsity level of competition. Among the best efforts were the 6-2 record posted by the JV football team and the undefeated league play of the frosh gridgers. The successful boys cross country team featured the running of underclassmen Trevor Dick, Ric Ramirez, and Tyler Phillips. Frosh Ashley Streitmatter and sophomore Alisa Gierloff contributed solid performances to the girls cross country team. Also, underclass athletes performed exceptionally well in gymnastics, volleyball, soccer, and waterpolo where many competed at the varsity level.

Cagers Surprise Foes Post Winning Season

Although they failed in their bid to go to the State tournament at the Memorial Coliseum for the third consecutive year, the Scot basketball team posted a most successful season. Picked to finish in the lower half of the league by pre-season polls, the Scots surprised their friends and foes alike by finishing with a 11-9 record and placing fourth in the Mt. Hood League. This gained the team a spot in the pre-tourney play offs where Douglas was eliminated in the first round by La Grande on a last second basket.

Tyrin Cooke, Scott Spence, Jim Stephens, and Larry Wells were the senior nucleus of the squad. Underclassmen who made major contributions to the success of the team included high scoring Bill Blevins, Brian Fong, Robbie Bell, and Scott Dollens.

Girls Team Gains Valuable Experience

Hit hard by graduation, the girls basketball team entered the 1985 season faced with a rebuilding program under the direction of new head coach, Mr. Dick Niehues. Although season's record of 5-11 dropped the Scots to a 7th place league finish, the team played with great spirit and enthusiasm. Providing leadership for the team were seniors Nanette Bowlin, Lani Forrester, Angie Hergert, Leslie Waldon, Katy Molik, and Hallie Schnell. Among the underclass players on the squad Mary Ann Baird, Kim Volk, and Tammy Phillips all saw considerable playing time with Baird being on the starting team. The experience this trio of girls gained at the varsity level this year combined with the excellent talent coming up from the JV team should put the Scots into a position to challenge for the league title next year.

CLOCKWISE, ABOVE: The Scot bench watches intently as the game progresses...Leslie Waldon goes up over a Barlow defender for a jump shot as Mary Ann Baird tenses for a possible rebound...Katy Molik and Nanette Bowlin find themselves surrounded by Bruins as Molik attempts to clear the ball out to a teammate...The intensity of the action is reflected in the face of Tammy Phillips as she drives the ball up the court.

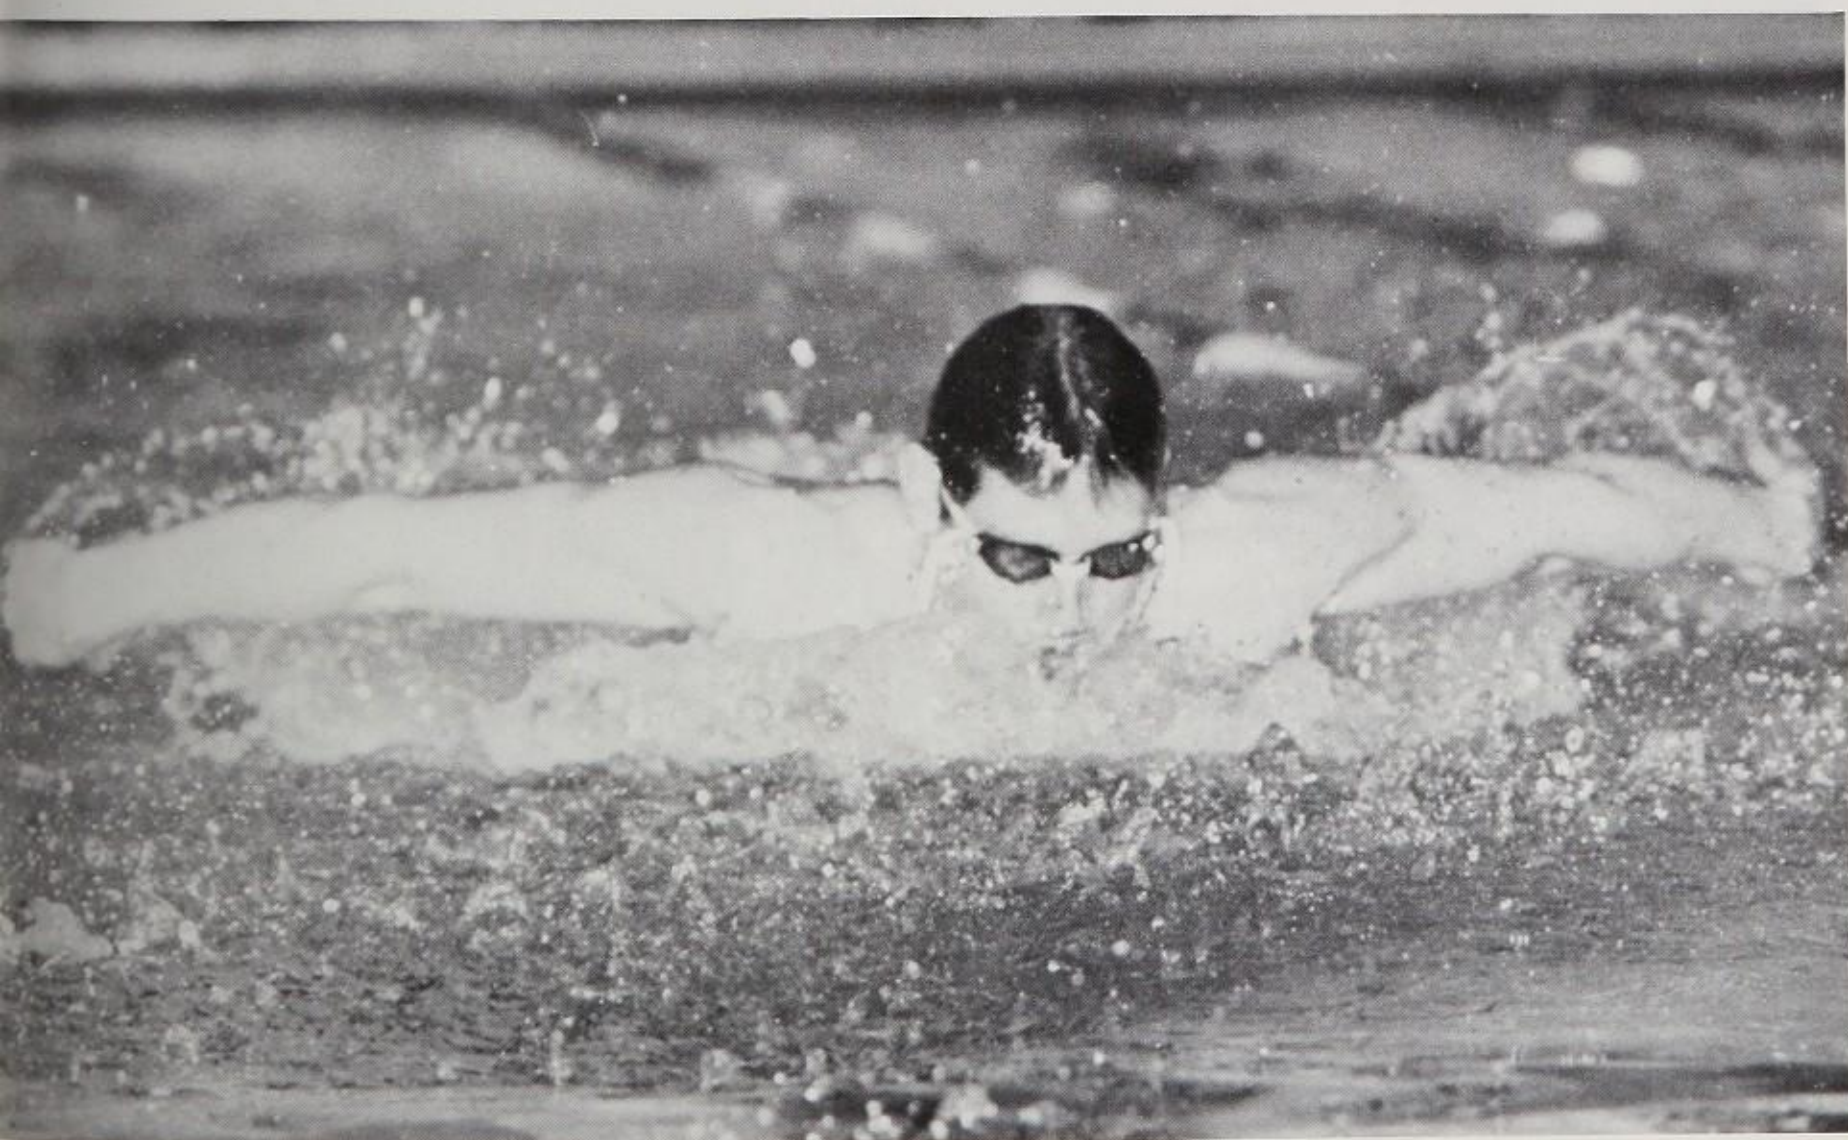

Scots Continue To Reign As Swim Kings

Heavily favored to win the State championship, the boys swim team lived up to its advanced notices and captured the crown. The State title capped a spectacular season for the Scots, who won all nine of their dual meets, including decisive wins over arch rivals Parkrose and Sheldon, plus a victory over Lakes High School of Tacoma, the number one team in Washington. The Scots were led by a very talented and dedicated group of seniors, namely Matt Rankin, Mark Rankin, Rick Vail, and Jeff Grandy. Although the loss of these swimmers to graduation will be felt, there are many underclass swimmers who also made major contributions to the varsity team this year, and their return next season will insure the Scots of another strong team to carry on the Douglas winning tradition in the pool. Among these returnees are John Kelley, Jason Kelley, Todd Raeburn, and Andrew Lorys.

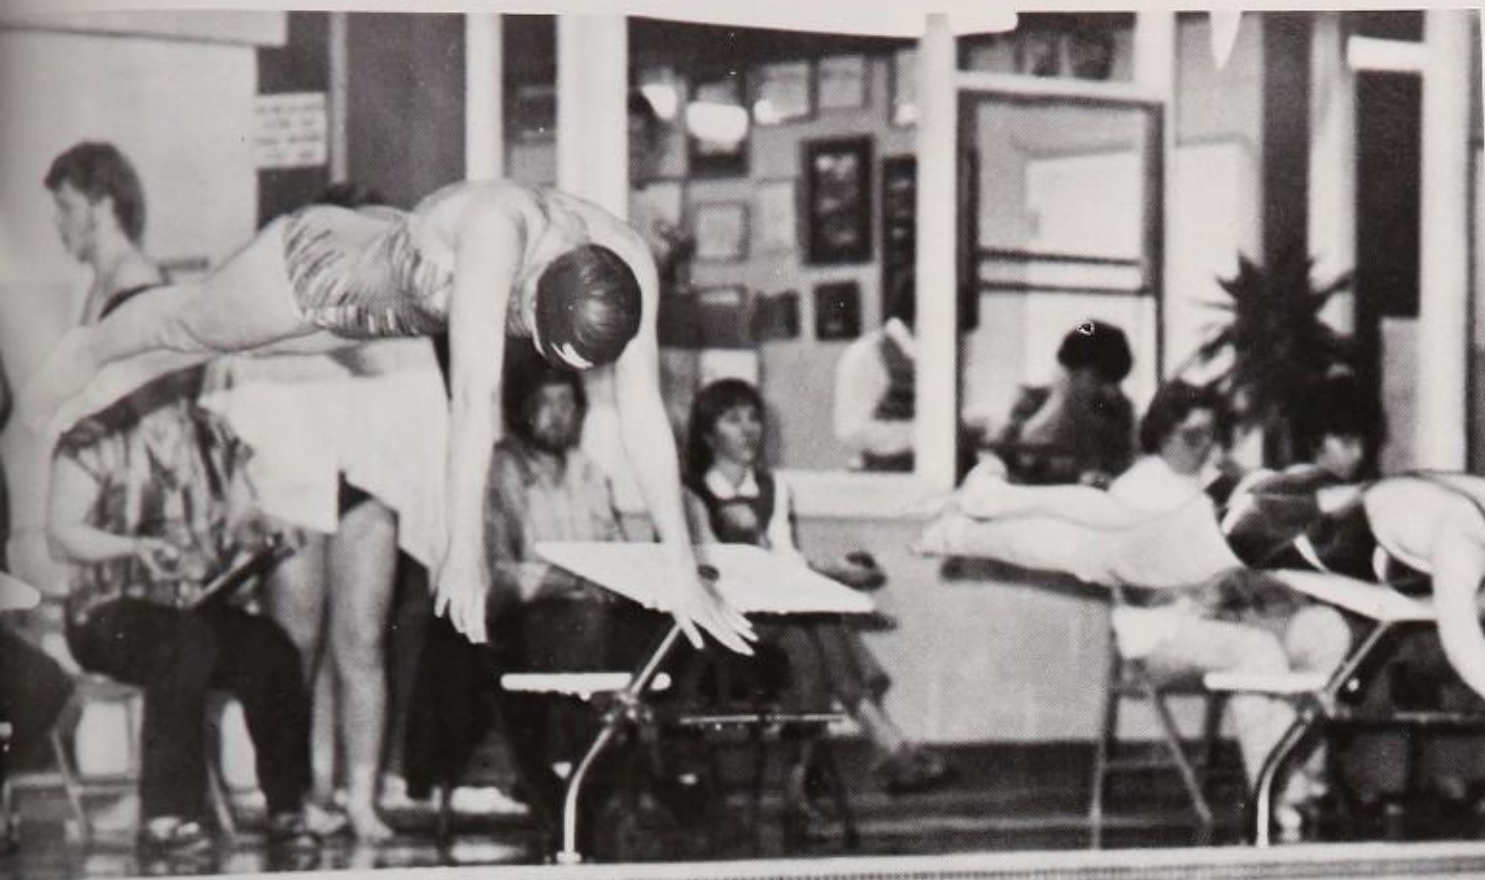

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Far out ahead of the rest of the field, Rick Vail comes down the final lap of the butterfly race...John Kelly and Andrew Lorys urge their teammates on from the edge of the pool...Jason Kelly holds the lap counter board under the water as he yells encouragement to a Scot swimmer...The water boils as the powerful strokes of backstroker Todd Raeburn break the surface...David Garcia and Coach Bert Stratton plot strategy prior to the beginning of a race.

Girls Swim Team Among League Leaders

The 1985 addition of the girls swim team continued the Douglas tradition of fielding powerful swimmers as it posted a season's mark of 8 wins and only 2 defeats. This record, coupled with their winning of the District meet gave the Scots a second place league finish. Individually, many of the girls improved their personal bests in their respective events with the trio of Allyson Strohl, Kim Raeburn, and Monica Amos turning in the most consistent performances during the season. Of those swimmers who went to the State championship meet, only Strohl placed high enough to earn metals. She captured two fifth place finishes in her individual events. The Scots will lose only Strohl and Lesli Johnson to graduation, returning Raeburn, Amos, Sara Olson, Becky Eatch, Shannon Hall, Jennifer Harrigan, and Linda Griffith next season.

Scot Grapplers Go To State Wrestling Meet

The Scot varsity wrestling team produced four team members who advanced to the State tournament this year. These outstanding wrestlers included Mark Parrish (194 lbs.), Mike Brewer (148 lbs.), Pat Rawlins (141 lbs.), and Troy Turner (123 lbs.). Turner was the only one to capture a metal, grabbing a 6th place for his weight class. As a team the Scots had another strong year, finishing the season with a 5-3 record in the very competitive Mt. Hood League and a 5th place ranking at the District meet.

JV, Frosh Teams Post Very Successful Years

Underclass teams and individual underclassmen enjoyed outstanding successes during the winter sports season. All frosh and JV basketball squads with the lone exception of the freshman red team posted winning records, with the frosh girls' team leading the way with a 17-2 record. On the wrestling and swimming teams many underclassmen competed at the varsity level, with some playing key roles in the successes of these teams. With this talent and experience returning next year, the winter sports varsity teams should be very strong.

Track Team Features Many Young Talents

Although composed primarily of untried underclassmen, the boys track team captured a third place finish in the tough Mt. Hood League. At the District meet several Scots qualified for the State meet, including Gerald Noble, district long jump champ, and Bob Gray who won the district 110 meters high hurdles crown. Also going to State were Pat Rawlins in the pole vault and the 400 meter relay team of Noble, Tyrin Cooke, Hondell Blocker, and Al Blain. Other team members who also performed well for the Scots this year included Ron Gray, Bill Maxwell, Mark Wreath, David Hendrie, Cam Cross, and Nick Marshall.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Gerald Noble leads Hondell Blocker and Tyrin Cooke to a Scot sweep in the 100 meter dash over Reynolds . . . Steve Pyne unleashes a strong throw of the javelin . . . Showing excellent form, Ron Gray attempts to clear the high jump bar . . . Steve Hawley and Clay Huml are in good position as the race rounds the curve and heads into the home stretch.

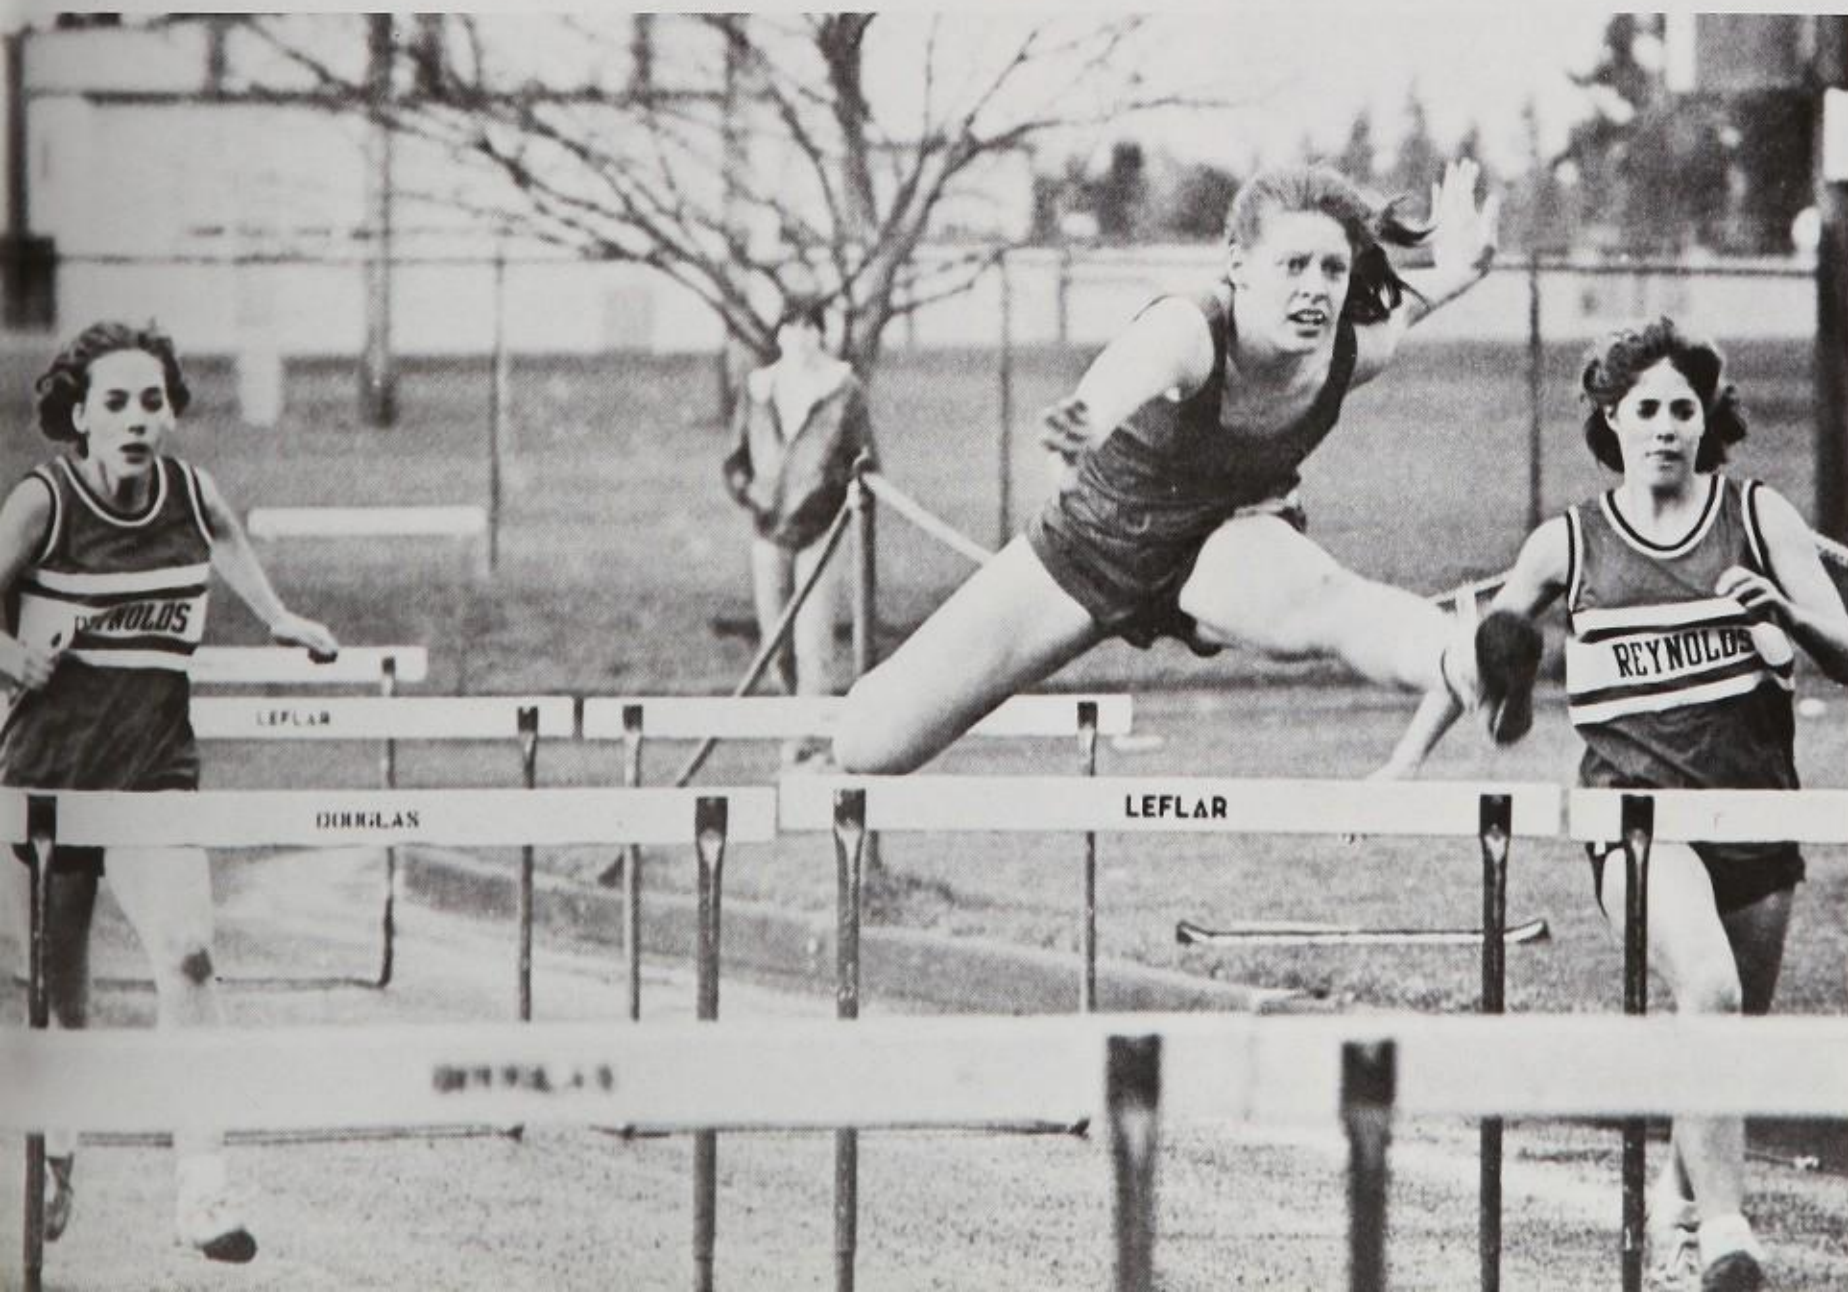

Girls Track Team Shows Promise

Several outstanding individual performances were turned in by the Scot girls track team this year. Led by senior Michelle Mickel, who placed third in the 3000 meter run at the District meet, other athletes who placed at District included Teresa Sakaguchi, third place in both the shot put and discus; and a fourth place finish by the 400 meter relay team composed of Erica Miller, Ondine Gundersen, Sue Ann Baird, and Ashley Streitmatter. With the return of these experienced performers next year the Scots should challenge for the league title.

Scots Tie For Second In League

Off to a slow start, the baseball team turned it around by midseason and finished in a three way tie for second place in the Mt. Hood League. After defeating Gresham, the Scots lost to Reynolds, thus losing out on a chance to advance to the State playoffs. The team was led by four seniors who won first team, all league honors: Jeff Upton, Derek Vaughn, Jeff Hammack, and Jim Ross. Todd Burke gained second team, all league recognition. Other players who made major contributions to the team included Todd Hamilton, Scott Inglesby, Kris Kastner, John Hoffard, Daryl Rusaw, and Scott Dollens.

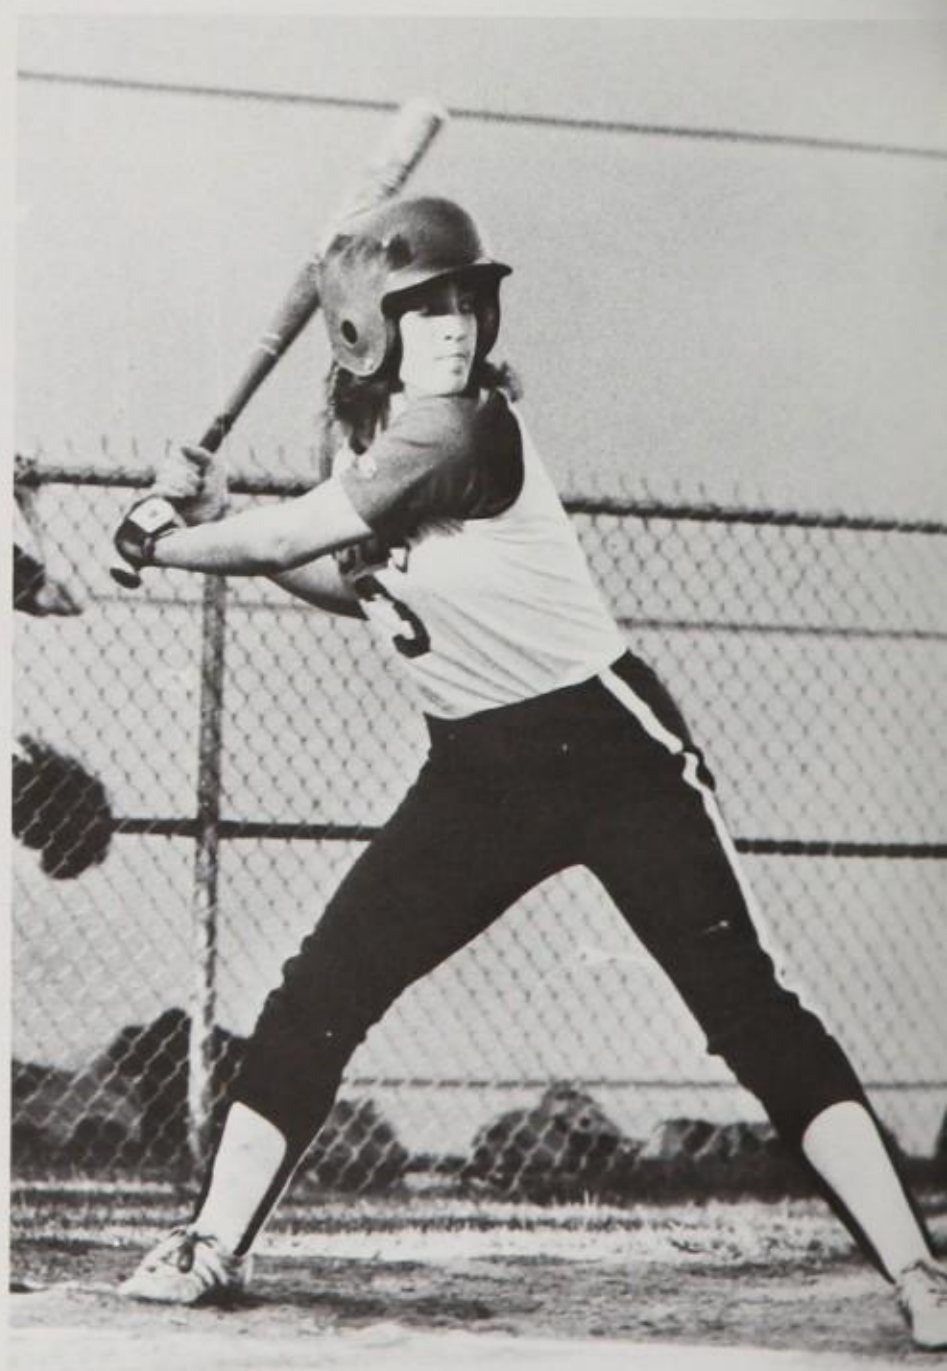

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: The sure hands of Todd Burke scoop up a hot smash down the first base line . . . Scott Dollens comes to the plate with his fast ball as the game gets under way . . . A long run results in a good catch for outfielder Scott Spencer . . . Sprinting down the baseline, Todd Hamilton attempts to beat the throw to the bag . . . The Scot bench intently follows the action on the field.

Young Scots Gain Valuable Experience

With only one senior, Angie Hergert, on the softball team this year, it was an opportunity for many underclass athletes to gain playing experience at the varsity level of competition. Although the season's record of four wins and sixteen losses placed the Scots near the bottom of the league standings, several girls showed promise of future stardom. Kathy Gray was named to the League's second team all star squad. Other outstanding players who will be returning next year include Michelle Lamberton, Dieonne Asla, Andrea Orazion, Veronica Beutler, and Chrissy Chegwidden.

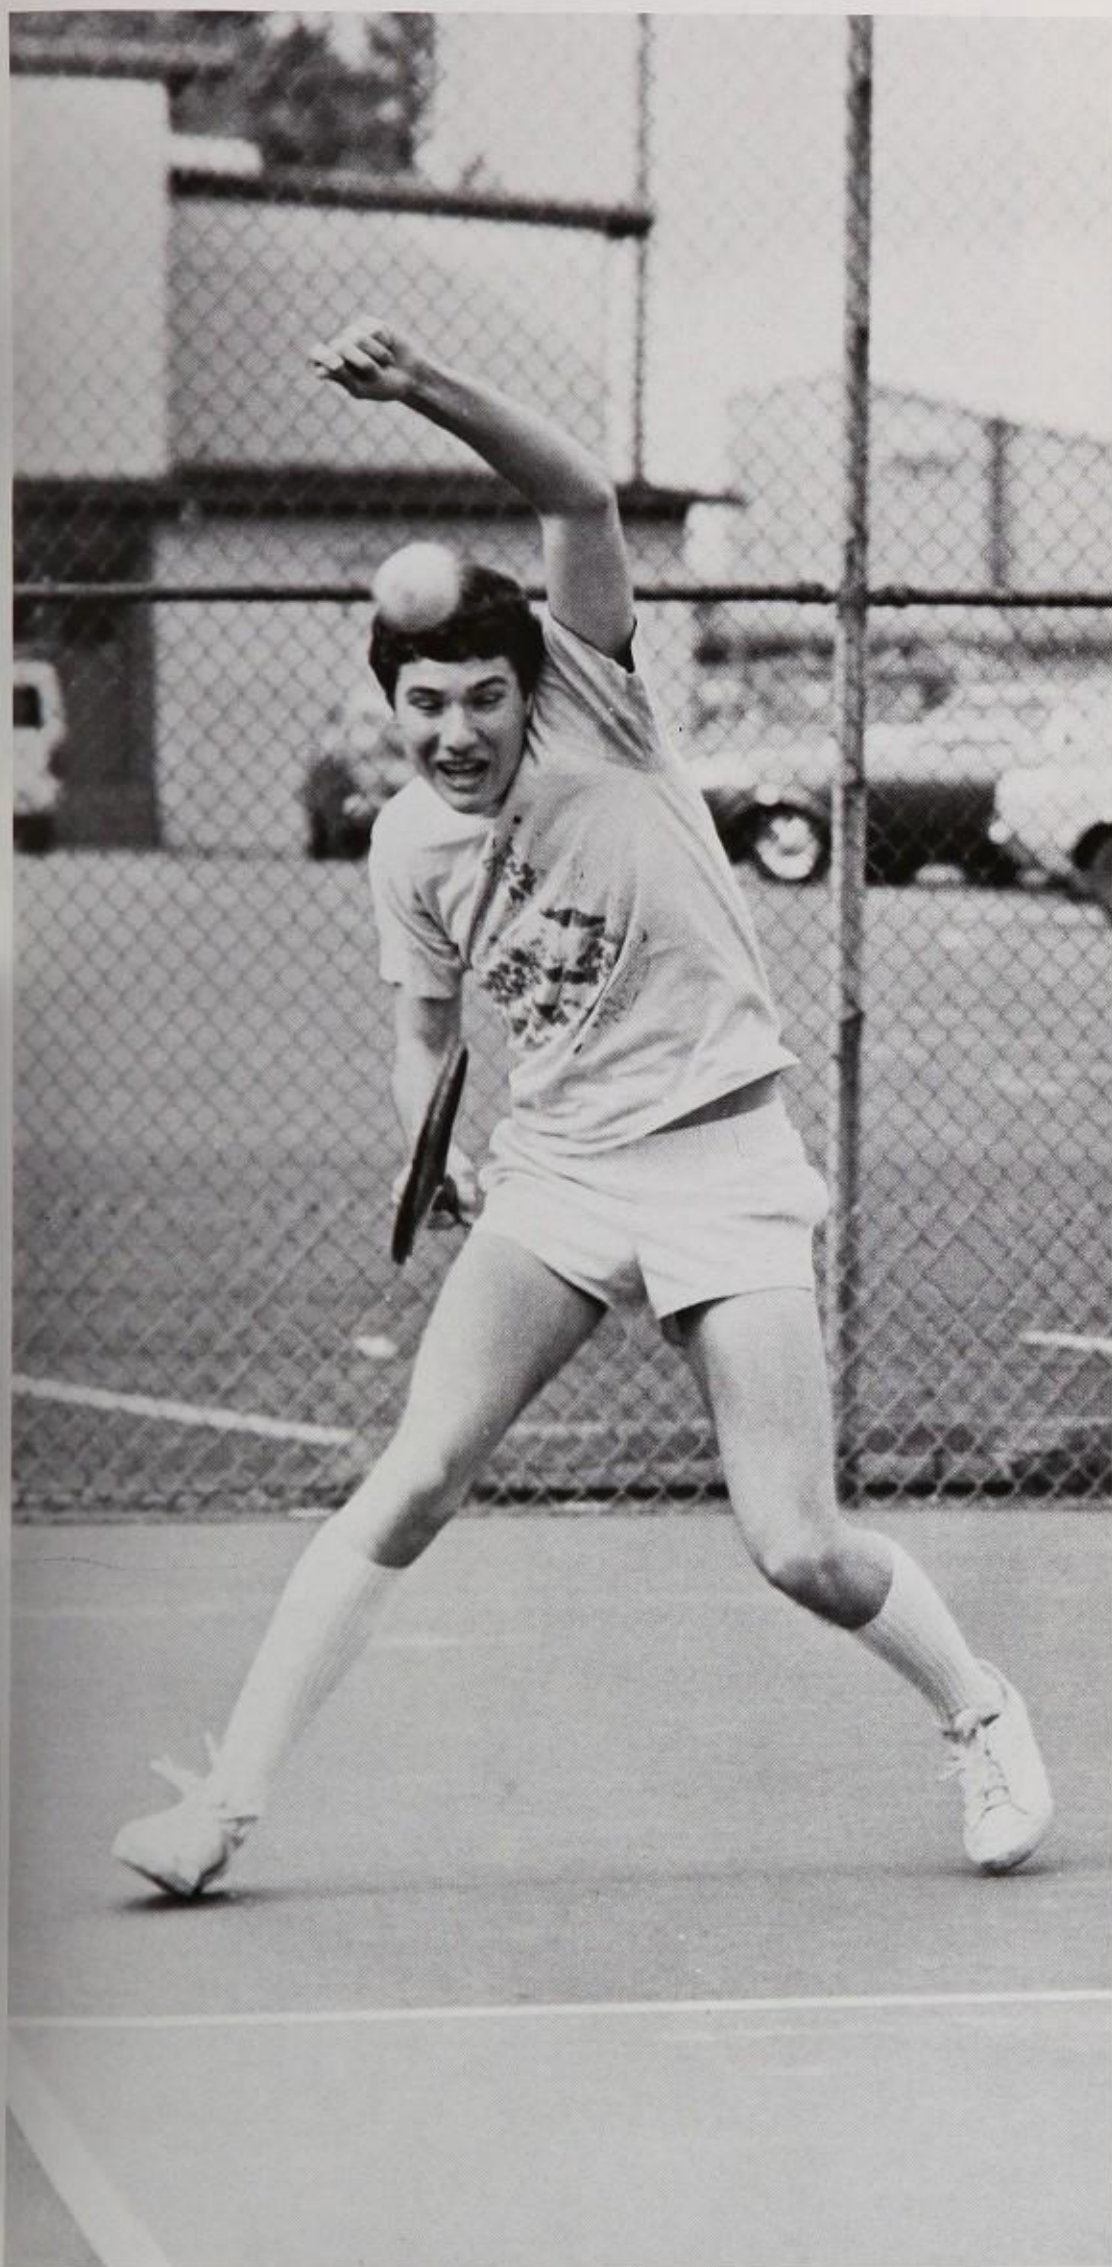

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Stayce Webb stretches out for the base as she tries to outrun the infielder's throw . . . Her eye on the ball, Michelle Lamberton begins her swing . . . Scot Netters Post 16-0 Season Record

In addition to posting a perfect season in dual meet competition, the boys tennis team captured the Mt. Hood Conference championship. Led by league doubles champs, Ke and Phou Ounaphom, and Brian Fong who placed fourth in singles competition, the Scots also featured the strong play of Lance Lannigan, Sean McCarthy, Khamsouk Chanthakounn, and Somsouk Somsanith. The Scot fortunes look very good next year with the return of Phou Ounaphon, Chanthakoun, Somsanith, Fong, Oukeo Ounaphon, Il An, Lyman Yee, and Song Kim.

Girls Capture 3rd Place In League

A very young, inexperienced girls tennis team came on strong as the season progressed and finished in third place in the Mt. Hood League competition. The Scots were led by the lone senior on the squad, Katie Molik, who competed in the State tournament for the third consecutive year. Sophomores Iria Aquino, Gina Franko, Nicole Olds, Kristine Nakamura, and Christian Seapy all played well throughout the season, gaining valuable varsity experience. Molik and Olds capped the excellent year by winning first place in doubles competition at the District meet.

Underclassmen Shine In Spring Sports

The spring sports season offered many opportunities for underclass athletes to hone their skills and gain valuable experience in competition. Most notable were the contributions of many outstanding freshmen and sophomores to the boys and girls track teams. The points they scored at the varsity level and the many school underclass track and field records they established promise a major improvement in the Scot track fortunes over the next several years. The same holds true with the tennis squads where underclassmen dominated. In addition, the freshman softball and the freshman and JV baseball teams also posted successful seasons.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Kathy Gray finds the action intense at the plate. Gray, a junior, won league honors for her fine all around play for the Scots . . . The best varsity hurdlers for Douglas were freshmen such as Bill Maxwell and Bob Gray. Gray went to State in the high hurdles event . . . Another frosh standout was Ashley Streitmatter shown here out-distancing her opponent in the 400 meter run . . . Phou Ounaphom was, along with his partner and cousin Ke Ounaphom, the conference doubles champion in tennis . . . Students Learn Skills Through P.E. Classes

Recognizing the value of a physically sound body to a person's general well being, all students at Douglas are expected to enroll in physical education classes beginning with their freshman year. In order to meet the mandatory two credit hours each student must have for graduation, a wide variety of classes are available, ranging in interest from weight training and dance to various team oriented sports such as basketball and softball. Many students choose to acquire more than their needed minimum credits in P.E. by participation all four years. Through such exposure to the program all students gain knowledge, sportsmanship and physical skills which will benefit them throughout their adult lives.

Students Learn Skills Through Publication Work

For the student who aspires to some day become a professional journalist or photographer, the curriculum at Douglas offers both introductory instruction as well as opportunities for the student to put the learned skills into practice as members of the school's publication staffs. The journalism class exposes students to all phases of newspaper work and also allows them actual experience as cub reporters for the Highlander. The photography class is designed to give students a basic understanding of photography from both a technical and artistic standpoint. Students develop skills in various fields of photography, ranging from portrait photography to photo journalism, and they all have the opportunity to submit their work to the school publications. Selected students from both journalism and photography classes may continue their education in these related fields as staff members of the Highlander or the Celtic.

Awareness Stimulated By Social Studies

In its attempt to prepare the students to better meet the challenge of today's world, the social studies department strives to provide each student with an understanding of the basis of our American society. In addition to classroom studies in U.S. History, global studies, psychology and today's politics, many students get involved in such activities as the mock trial competition and the mock presidential election. All of these experiences add to the students' understanding of our unique political, social, and economic systems.

Mr. Jay Gustafson and Jennifer Ransdell share thoughts about their upcoming trip to Washington, D.C., as participants in the Close Up program.

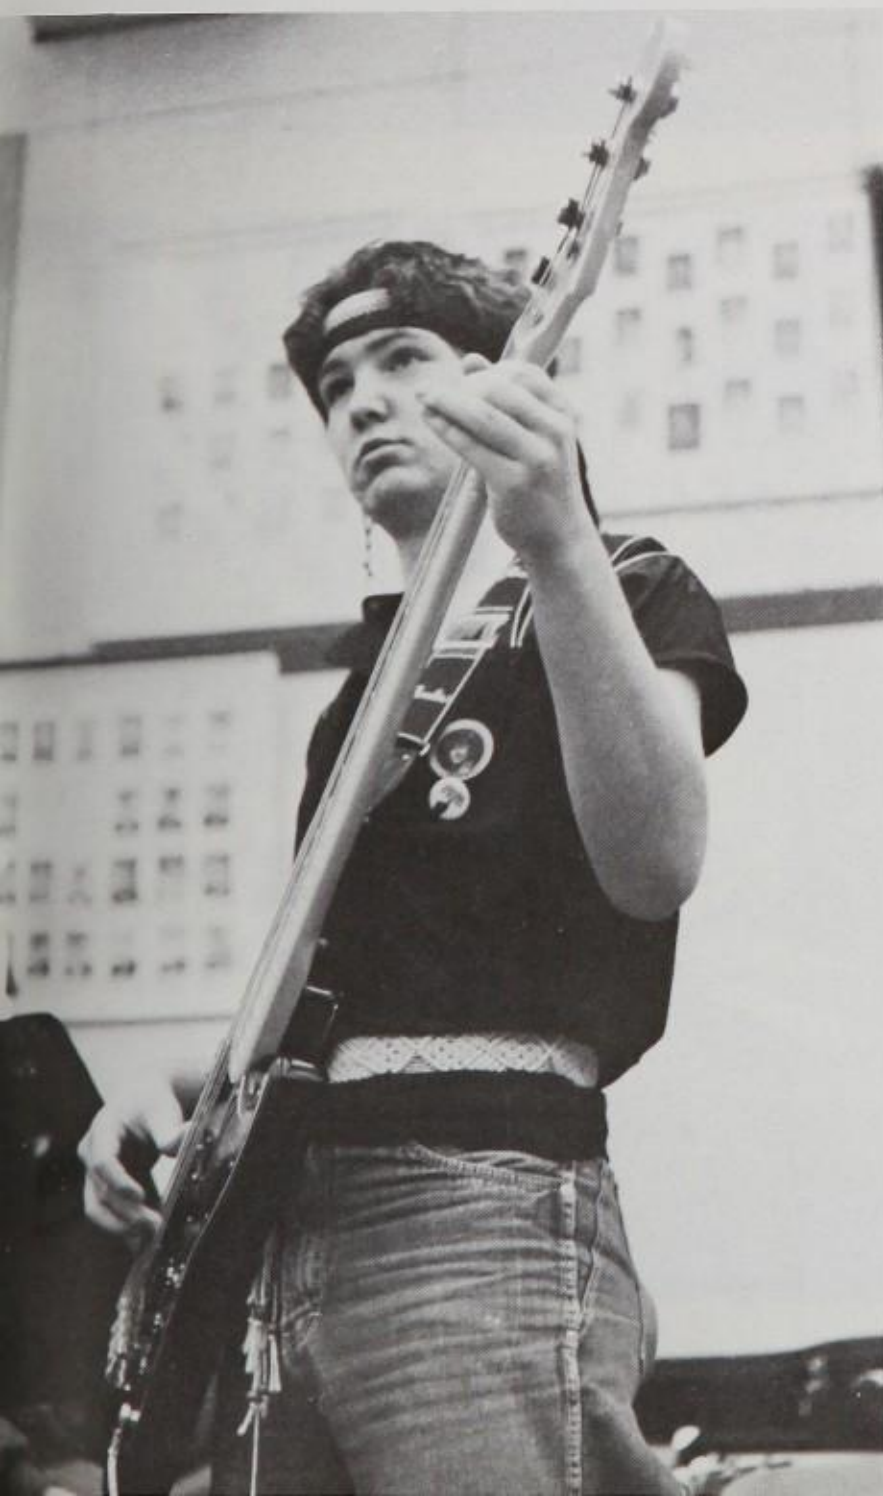

Music Appreciation Gained By Scots

Including courses in band, choral music, and orchestra the David Douglas music program provides students with a wide range of musical experiences ranging from musical theory and history to group and individual performances. These experiences all help the students in the development of attitudes of discipline and aesthetics, skill in performance, and discrimination in listening. These benefits derived from participation in the Douglas music classes will hopefully give students a lifelong appreciation of all forms of music.

Home Ec, Industrial Ed Offer Practical Education

The wide range of classes offered in both the home economics and industrial education departments introduce students to areas of learning that can be of direct benefit in later life. Whether the student takes these classes for personal enrichment or as preparation for a career in the food services industry, construction, electronics, automotive, or any other related job field, they are taught skills and attitudes through class instruction and hands-on experience. The broad offering of industrial subjects include drafting, electronics, mechanics, metalworking, and wood-working. Subjects in the home ec curriculum are foods, nutrition, sewing, interior design, family relationships, consumer skills, and child development.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: The child services class engages their charges in a spirited game of ball. . . Mr. Shawn Hoerth instructs the class on the intricacies of a small gas engine. . . Business Ed Prepares Students For Future

Students enrolled in the business education department classes learn procedures and skills which will benefit them throughout the rest of their lives. Whether Douglas graduates go directly into the job market or continue on to a higher level of schooling, skills such as typing, word processing and accounting will be of great assistance. Other classes offered in the department include the cluster courses of accounting, clerical, and secretarial which give those students planning for careers in business an opportunity to study advanced techniques, often under simulated job conditions.

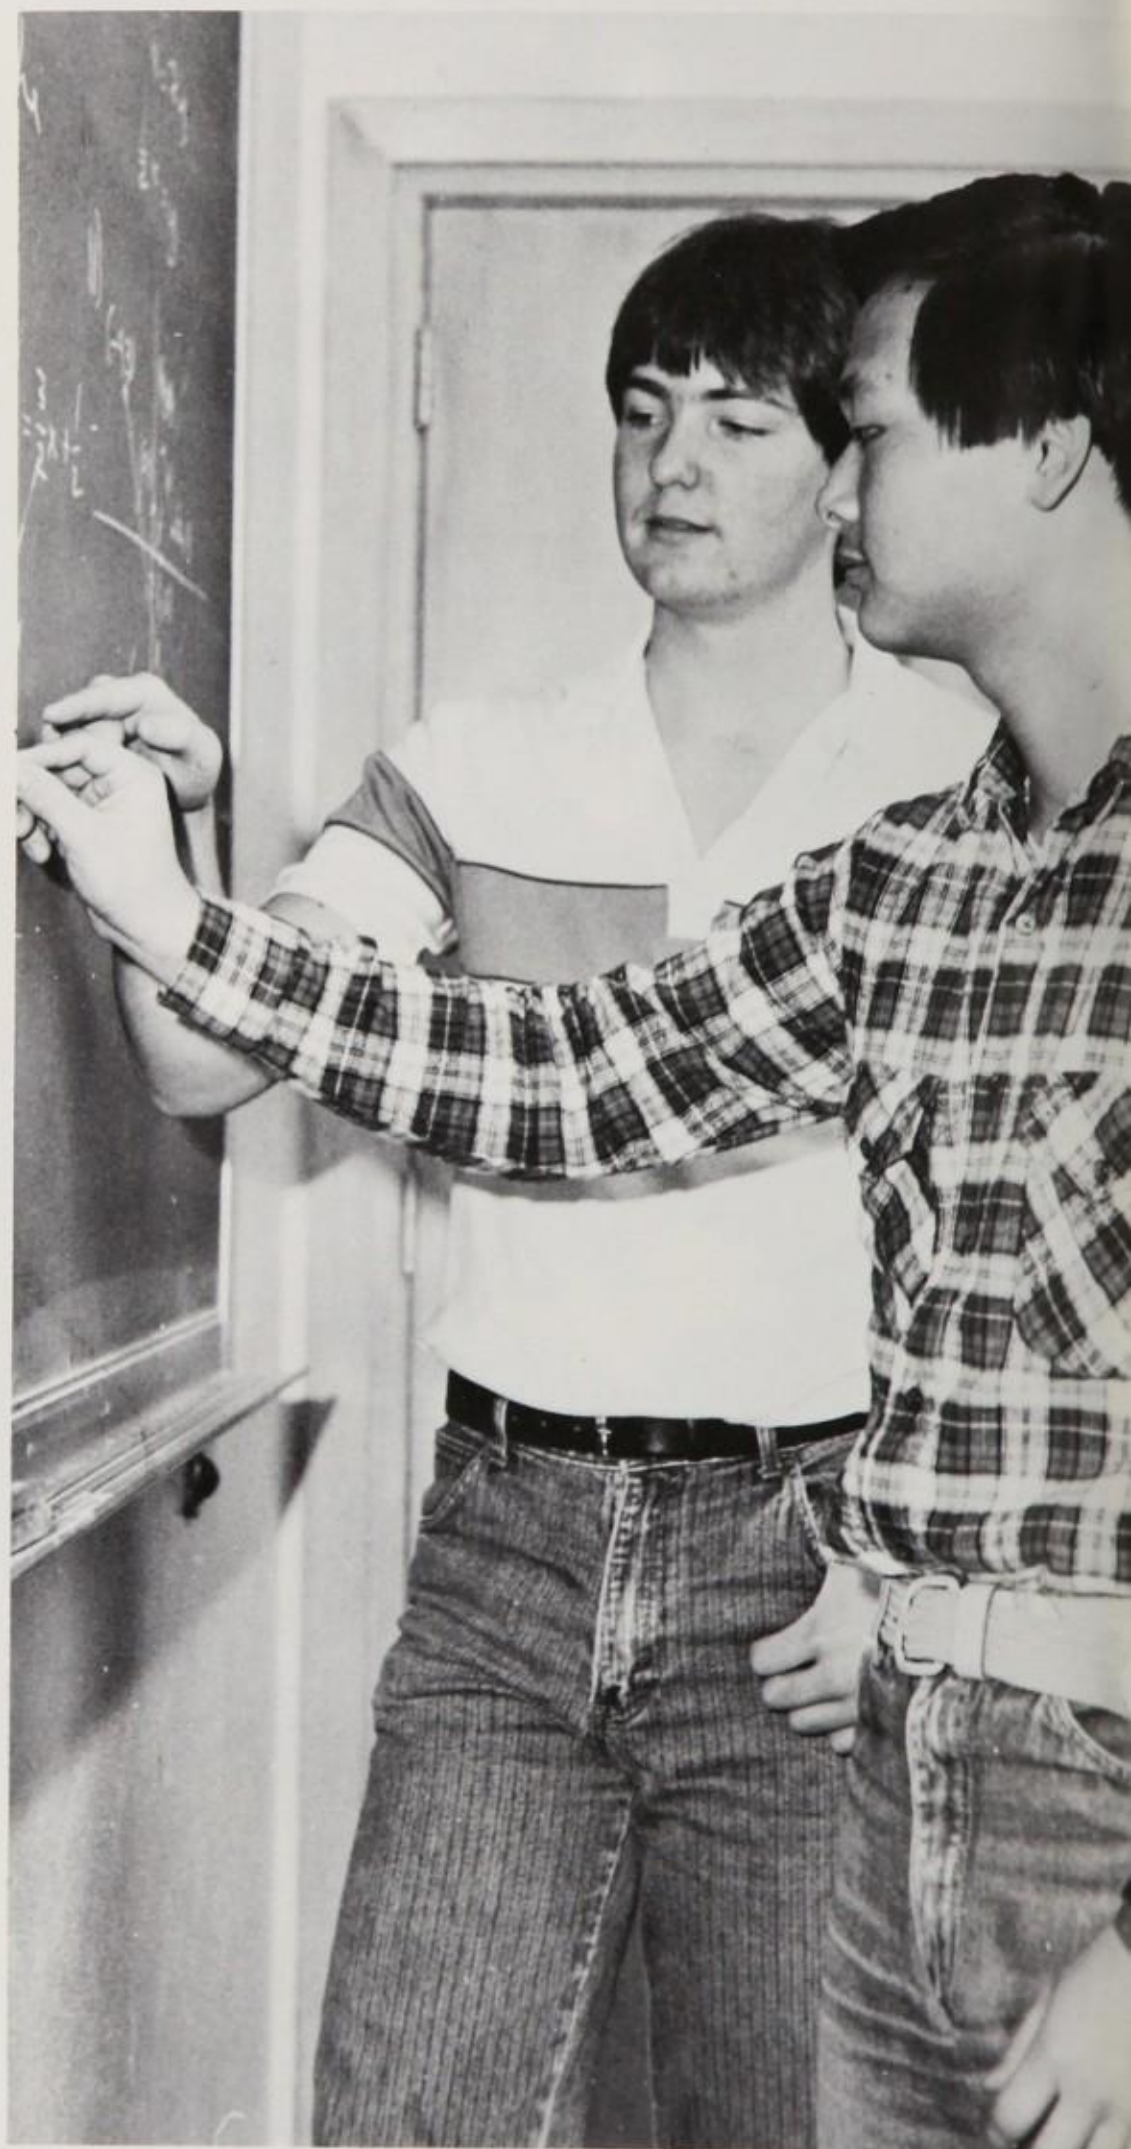

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: An accounting class makes the adding machines hum as they work diligently on their daily assignment...Mr. Reid Ferris and Keopaseuth Somsanith attempt the sometimes frustrating task of balancing a checking account...A smile reveals that Jill Hanson is having success with her record keeping...The word processing computer holds the complete attention of Somsanith and her partner, Somm Sayachith...A beginning typing class practices the basic skills of touch typing.

Math Teaches Scots To Think Logically

The mathematics department makes available to every student mathematics appropriate to his or her ability, maturity, and needs. All math courses attempt to unify, extend, and develop mathematical skills previously learned through the use of the principles of logic. Whether the students are enrolled in general math or in more advanced classes, such as geometry, computer math, math analysis, and AP math, they all are encouraged to think and study independently and, in general, gain mathematical skills which will enable them to adapt of the world beyond high school.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Mrs. Vicki Miller offers to help to Angie Clayton and Laura Perez as they work on a math assignment . . . The usual crowd gathers around Mr. Walt Skowhede's desk as the work period begins . . . David Johnson and Robin Chen combine their efforts on a difficult problem. Johnson and Chen achieved high academic distinction this year by being named National Merit Scholarship finalists . . . The calculator gets a workout under the hand of Paul Adams . . . Jeff Upton and David Kay ponder the results of their computer math work.

Skills And Appreciation Taught In Art Classes

The art classes at Douglas have as their primary objective the development of the students' understanding and skills in art. In attempting to accomplish this goal, students can enroll in a wide variety of classes ranging from calligraphy, general art, jewelry or crafts to more advanced courses in studio ceramics, painting and drawing, and advanced placement studio art. All classes allow the students to work with a variety of art materials and techniques, and also they are given guidance toward developing a more critical evaluation of their work and the work of other artists.

All Students Required To Take English Classes

A major requirement for all students graduating from David Douglas is that they must take and pass at least three years of English studies. For students planning on college, the requirement is four years of English. In order to meet this demand, an interesting variety of classes are offered to meet the needs and interests of all students. Basic courses in writing and literature as well as advanced classes in these disciplines give students much practice in the use of the English language. Also, the elective courses of the department, such as humanities, journalism, speech, and drama allow interested students the opportunity to put their English skills into practice in ways that further benefit them individually and also contribute to the entire school.

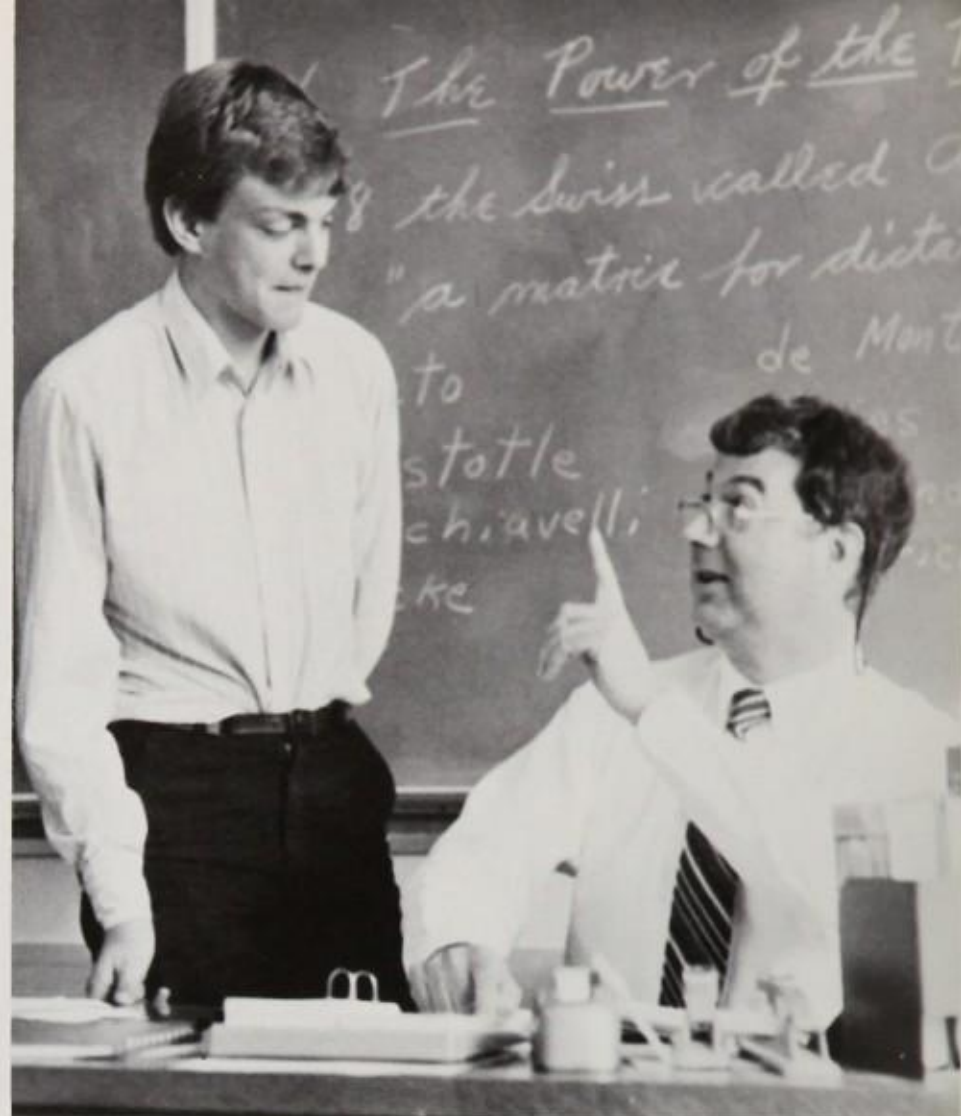

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Pat Rawlins and his classmates pursue their study of literature through the examination and analysis of period artwork . . . A trio of drama class students present their interpretation of an excerpt from "West Side Story" . . . An oration by Huan Nguyen holds the attention of his audience in speech class . . . This year the written word took on added meaning thanks to the school promotion, The Year of the Pen, and the Trailblazer-Avia Write On contest. Carl Detert, a high finisher in the Write On competition, shows the rewards of his efforts to his English teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron . . . Students admire a display of Year of the Pen writings.

Foreign Languages Add To Scots' Education

In today's ever increasingly complex world, the study of a modern foreign language is of great importance in order to bridge the cultural and communications gaps. David Douglas meets this need for many of its students by offering courses in French, Spanish, and German. All beginning classes teach basic skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing the language, whereas the more advanced classes offer the students who continue their language studies the chance to further refine these skills and in addition study the culture of the given country. Often this cultural study is expressed by the various classes in the form of song and dance or in the observation of special festival days of the culture.

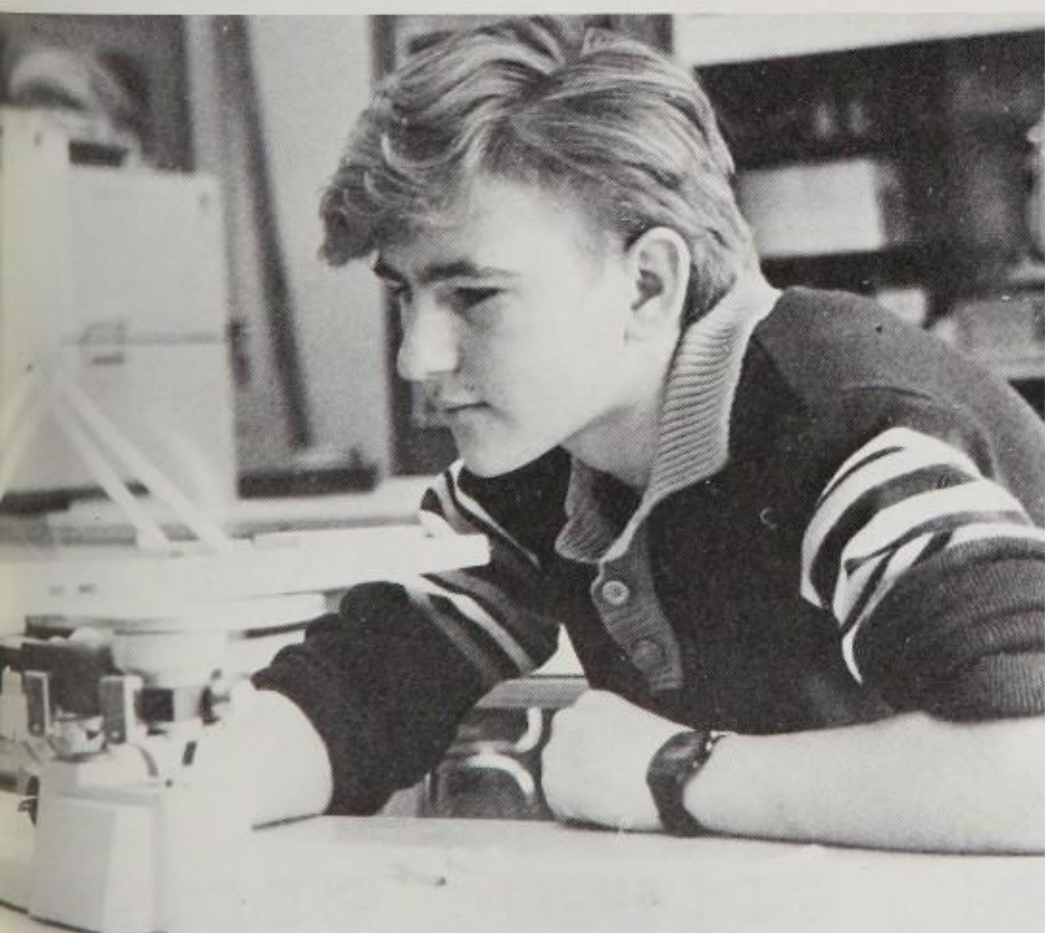

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: A Spanish class practices their language skills by writing, producing, and acting out a soap opera in Spanish . . . Mrs. Karilyn McEnroe demonstrates the art of making French breads to her students . . . Pierre Brolin gets the final word from his German teacher, Mr. Walter Swanson . . . Although most of us do not think of it as such, English is a foreign language to a group of Scots. Danh Cuoi learns practical English by playing games, such as Monopoly, under the guidance of Mrs. Reita Hribernick . . . Tonya Rake does some last minute cramming prior to a Spanish exam.

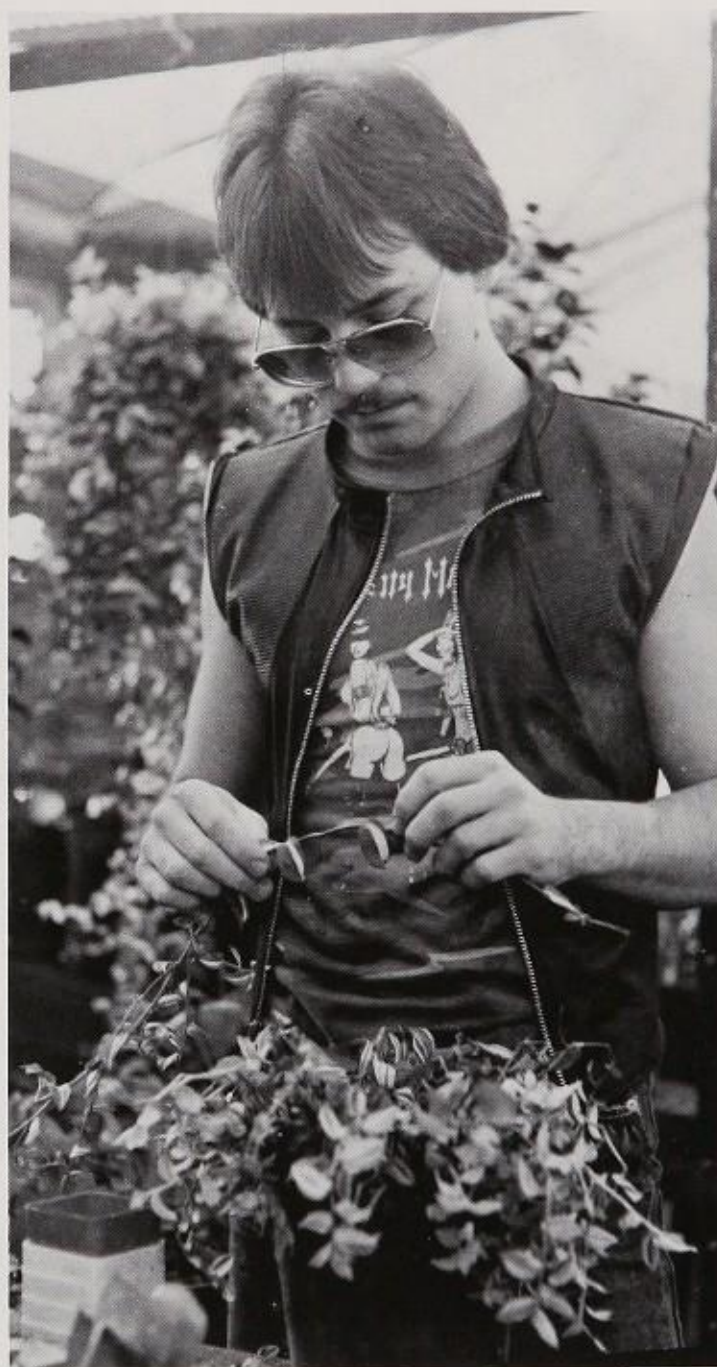

Science Offers Many Challenges To Students

The science offerings at David Douglas are designed to meet the future needs of two different groups of students. Such classes as general science, biology, chemistry and horticulture present basic information and instruction in the fields of both physical and natural sciences which will be of practical value to all students. For those students who plan to have a career related to science and math, work of a more advanced nature can be taken. A.P. biology, A.P. chemistry, microbiology and physics challenge these students in the areas of the laboratory techniques, logical thought and the application of mathematics to scientific theory.

CLOCKWISE, BELOW: Horticulture student Tom Koser prepares cuttings as he puts his classroom learning into practice in the greenhouse . . . The physics class' annual bridge building project and competition challenges the mind and skills of Jason Honn . . . Ted Young and Dave Collins combine their efforts on a chemistry experiment . . . The wonders of microscopic biology are explored by Eric Wilson . . . One of the reasons students find science so interesting is the chance to have a "hands on" involvement. Tiffany Sander and Veronica Beutler are no exception as they closely examine their lab specimen.

Class of '86 Aims For Senior Year

Preparing themselves for their leadership role at Douglas next year, the junior class spent this school year honing their academic skills and gaining additional experience in the many areas of Scot life outside the classroom. In athletics, drama, music, and other endeavors members of the Class of 1986 rose to positions of leadership and showed the ability and spirit that will carry over into their senior year. Much can be expected of this class of Scots, and it can be counted on to fulfill these expectations.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Sherri Young and Mr. Brad Hanna discuss the proper way to solve a difficult math problem . . . A class of juniors labors over a U.S. History assignment . . . Juniors Bill Blevins, Robbie Bell, Brian Fong and other juniors received much playing time this year on the varsity basketball squad. This experience should mean a very strong team next year . . . An accounting class project holds the attention of Ken Jennings and Ricky Reed . . . Sheryl Schierbeek finds the quiet of the library the ideal environment for working on her homework.

Sophomores Rise To New Heights

Coming off a fine freshman year, the sophomore class entered school in the fall determined to show the rest of the student body that they were a class to be reckoned with not only in the future, but right now! With great energy and spirit the sophomores became deeply involved in school life and began to exhibit definite signs of leadership abilities both collectively in class competitions and individually in the classroom and in the fields of music, sports, and other activities. It was a banner year for the sophomores, and their continued growth is much anticipated as they await their junior year at Douglas.

CLOCKWISE, ABOVE: Many sophomores, including David Bailey, got their chance to participate in the concert band. . . The popular weight lifting class captures the attention and energies of Brian Woods and Troy Harbick. . . Mr. Bob Gray and Carrie Berentson deliberate over a tough math problem. . . A wood shop project calls for the combined efforts of Kelly Foresman, Joe Smith and senior Rick Thurman. . . Tammy Vonfeldt and Bob Blalock team up as lab partners to complete a biology assignment.

A spirited game of broom hockey finds a group of sophomore girls in intense competition as they advance toward the goal.

Frosh Jump Off To Great Start

New surroundings, new friends, and new demands all combined to present the incoming freshman class with what seemed to be impossible obstacles in the way of their educational progress. However, the newcomers rapidly made the necessary adjustments to their challenging situation and quickly became full members of the Scot family. Their first class project, the Sadie Hawkins dance, proved to be an outstanding success. In addition the class members also made the transition from middle school to high school in the classrooms, and many even found time to become involved in the extra curricular life at Douglas. Looking back, it was a year which began in confusion and doubt but ended in success and growing confidence.

CLOCKWISE, LEFT: Janet Gabbey and Mr. Dwight Leverenz work on a math problem. . . A helpful teacher holds the attention of Venay Edwards in her Spanish class. . . A frosh home ec class receive instructions in the proper way to make a salad. . . Mike Halk eagerly watches the computer screen as Mrs. Bernice Murphy runs an attendance check on him. . . The action on the court elicits varied responses from the bench of the freshman team.

Faculty, Administration Provide Guidance

Both visibly and behind the scenes, the administration, faculty, and support staff provide strong leadership and guidance for the students at David Douglas. In the classroom, at our many extra curricular events, and in the community we are constantly aware of these talented and dedicated people who share our lives during our years at Douglas. They support and encourage us as they prepare us for our futures. They are our instructors, but they are also our friends.
